WAR FLARES IN MIDDLE EAST

LBJ Makes Appeal For Cease-Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House called upon "all parties" today to support the United Nations Security Council in bringing about an immediate cease-fire in the Middle East war.

Press secretary George Christian said in a statement that "tragic consequences will flow from this needless and destructive struggle if the fighting does not cease immediately."

He said this country will devote all its energies to ending the fighting and beginning programs "to assure the peace and development of the entire area."

President Johnson was notified at 4:40 a.m. of the outbreak of hostilities between Israel and Egypt. His special assistant for national security affairs, Walt W. Rostow, awakened him then and the President kept in continuous touch with developments the White House said.

Two separate crisis meetings were called. Johnson summoned Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Rostow and Christian to an 8:30 a.m. conference. This is the same group that meets at least once a week on the international situation.

Johnson asked Rusk and McNamara to brief Senate and House leaders on the Middle East crisis at 9:30 a.m.

Meanwhile the Defense Department said that all warplanes of the U. S. 6th Fleet "are and have been several hundred miles from the area of conflict" between Arab and Israeli forces.

The Pentagon issued a statement describing as erroneous what it called reports that U.S. aircraft from the 6th Fleet carriers have flown to Israeli airfields and have taken part in what it called "air activity" elsewhere in the Middle East Battle zone.

Two 78,000-ton aircraft carriers of the 6th Fleet, the America and the Saratoga, last were reported steaming in the vicinity of Crete.

The Pentagon was silent on fleet movements, but it is known that U.S. warships have gradually concentrated in the eastern Mediterranean as the crisis deepened.

The 6th Fleet is made up of some 50 vessels, including cruisers, destroyers, submarines and support craft as well as the two big carriers.

A reinforced battalion of nearly 2,000 Marines is afloat in the Mediterranean with an amphibious squadron of six ships.

Jordan Forces Seize U.N. Truce Unit Site

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General U Thant reported today Jordanian forces had taken over headquarters of the U.N. truce supervision organization in Jerusalem and that he had sent an urgent appeal to King Hussein to order their withdrawal. Thant addressed an emergency session of the U.N. Security Council summoned to consider a call for an immediate cease-fire in the conflict between Israel and the Arab countries.

Egypt, Israel Claim Other Ignited Fuse

JERUSALEM (AP) — For the third time in 20 years, war broke out today in the Middle East and gunfire sounded in Israel and in three of its Arab neighbors — Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

The Arabs, sworn to destroy Israel, were battling the Jewish state's forces on two fronts, at Egypt's Sinai frontier and on the Syria and Jordan borders.

Each side accused the other of lighting the fuse for the explosion which, as in 1956, threatened to involve the major powers.

The main fighting today appeared to be in the Sinai Desert, across the frontier that United Nations forces guarded until Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser ordered them out 18 days ago.

Artillery fire was heard in Jerusalem, the holy city divided between Jordan and Israel. Israel's port of Haifa was bombed. Israeli planes attacked the airports of three Arab capitals, Cairo, Amman and Damascus. Amman radio, the voice of King Hussein, reported heavy fighting along Jordan's 350-mile frontier with Israel.

Cairo said Israeli planes attacked Sharm El Sheikh, the point overlooking the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba — the area Nasser has blockaded to Israeli ships in the central controversy that brought on the fighting.

The fighting came about after a series of minor clashes over the last few months across the Syrian-Israeli border, followed by Egypt's command May 17 for the United Nations to withdraw the U.N. Emergency Force that had separated Israel and Egypt on the Sinai frontier and at the Gaza Strip.

The U.N. Security Council, which had met fruitlessly for two weeks in an effort to preserve the peace, was called into emergency session in New York.

In Washington, the White House called on all parties to support the council, and said: "Tragic consequences will flow from this needless and destructive struggle if the fighting does not stop immediately."

Britain expressed grave concern and launched new discussions among the Big Four powers.

The fighting first erupted on the Sinai Desert front between Egyptian and Israeli troops and tanks, then spread to the Syrian and Jordanian fronts. Both sides accused the other of starting the war after weeks of crisis.

Egypt charged Cairo and other Egyptian targets were bombed. Damascus radio reported that Syrian air force planes bombed the oil refinery in Haifa and left it in flames. The broadcast said airfields in northern Israel were heavily damaged. Amman radio said Jordanian planes also took part in the Haifa raid.

The hardest ground fighting appeared to be centered in the Sinai Desert front involving Egyptian and Israeli troops.

An Israeli dispatch claimed the army there had made gains but this was denied in Cairo. Fighting also broke out along the Egyptian-administered Gaza Strip farther north.

Jordanian and Israeli artillery dueled along the border of divided Jerusalem. Damascus

3 Firemen Hurt

Salem Store Hit By $50,000 Blaze

SALEM — Investigation continued today into the cause of a blaze which destroyed a two-story furniture store building and injured three firemen Sunday.

Damage is expected to reach $50,000 in the fire which swept the Poland Countryside Furniture Co. on E. State St.

One of the three firemen injured was David Huffman, 29, who was trapped in the flaming structure for a brief time when a portion of a ceiling fell.

He suffered leg and shoulder injuries and was taken to Salem City Hospital.

Two other firemen were treated, one for smoke inhalation and the other for injuries when struck by falling debris.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Two apartments over the store in the Century Building also were destroyed.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tomlinson and their son John, who occupied one of the dwellings, made their way out unaided. The resident of the other apartment — Mrs. Harry Hall, was lead to safety by Mayor Dean Cranmer.

Mel Schumers, owner of the store, said an estimated $20,000 to $30,000 worth of merchandise was destroyed. He said The concern had been scheduled to move today into new quarters on Route 62 west of Salem.

The building is owned by Mrs. Letha C. Astry of Salem.

BOSTON (AP)—Three nights of rock throwing, looting, arson and scattered sniper fire in the predominantly Negro Roxbury section have left more than 70 persons injured, 100 arrested, and property damage estimated in the millions.

Three state representatives from Boston Negro sections asked Republican Gov. John A. Volpe today to declare the riot-torn sector a disaster area to make loans and federal aid availble to businessmen there.

"The people in this community are appalled at the violence, wanton waste, deliberate destruction of property, the loss of jobs held by people in the community and the unnecessary escalation of the problems in financing insurance and achieving economic resurgence of these areas," a letter said.

160 Britons Killed

Probe Launched In Plane Crashes

LONDON (AP)—Britain's air safety rules came under close scrutiny today following the death of 160 Britons in the crash of two chartered holiday airliners.

On Saturday night a Douglas DC4 bound for Perpignan, France, smashed into the foothills of the Pyrenees, killing all 88 aboard.

Sunday, a four-engine Argonaut coming home from Majorca plummeted into the center of the northern city of Stockport, killing 72 of the passengers and injuring 12. The plane crashed in the only clear area for miles around, and nobody on the ground was hurt.

Both planes were owned by private British airlines. Both were propeller-driven veterans around 20 years old. Both had been retired from service by bigger airlines as they bought newer aircraft. And both crashes came during the landing approach.

The prototype for both planes was designed in 1939. The Argonaut is a Canadian model of the Douglas DC4 with British instead of American engines. BOAC, the state-owned British Overseas Airways Corp., retired the Argonauts in 1959 after 107 million air miles and two accidents.

Two other DC4s have crashed this year, killing 57 persons.

Chartered flight companies in Britain must conform to the same safety rules as BOAC and its sister line, British European Airways. But BOAC and BEA have rules of their own more strict than the minimum required by law. The state lines, for example, do not permit pilots to land passengers at an airport which he has not visited on a familiarization flight. Private operators are not required to follow this rule.

Since 1957 private British airlines have had 22 fatal crashes with a total of 730 deaths. In the same period BOAC and BEA have had nine fatal accidents with 270 dead.

One Labor member of the House of Commons, Maurice Orbach, said he and others will demand an immediate safety check and review of the age of all planes brought out for the summer holiday trade.

Robert Carr, leader of the Conservative aviation group in Commons, said he would urge a drive for worldwide safety.

Four Credited With Saving Life

Youth Improves In Near Drowning

A 15-year-old Midland Heights youth who almost drowned while swimming in the Ohio River at the west end of Midland Saturday was in "satisfactory" condition today at Rochester General Hospital.

James Cush, son of Mrs. William Cush of 56-A Midland Heights, was rescued by two companions and given artificial respiration by two Midland cousins, servicemen home on leave from Vietnam.

Midland Police Sgt. Vincent D'Itri credited the quick action of all four with saving Cush's life.

The youth was pulled from the waters by Dale Emerick, 13, of 342 Midland Ave. and Kenneth Conci, 15, of 48 Midcrest.

He was given artificial respiration by Sgt. Antony Cerasi, 20, and Spe. 4C George Kruel, 20, of Midland, who were fishing near by.

According to Midland police, Cush, Coni, Emerick and Lawrence Vojtko, 14, of 340 Midland Ave. had gone swimming in the river about 400 yards west of the Midland sewage plant about 1 p. m.

After swimming for a while, Cush decided to swim to Georgetown Island, about 300 feet away, and the others began to follow.

When Cush got about halfway,

Marines Smash Communist Unit

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Marines smashed a Communist regiment 25 miles southwest of Da Nang and reported that 570 of the enemy were killed. Leatherneck casualties were 73 dead and 139 wounded.

The U.S. Command said the Marines rolled up their lopsided victory below the big Marine base at Da Nang against a crack Red regiment after two days of intense fighting. The Communist regiment, estimated about 3,000 men before the battle, slipped away to the north Saturday under intense air and artillery hammering.

Two U.S. planes were downed over North Vietnam during the weekend, bringing the number of U.S. combat planes reported lost over the North to 571.

An F105 Thunderchief was brought down by Communist ground fire Sunday but its pilot was rescued. A twin-engine B57 Canberra bomber went down Saturday night in a raid on the southern end of North Vietnam. Its two-man crew was missing.

Air Force pilots reported they completely enveloped a convoy of 20 trucks near Dong Hoi with heavy bombing Sunday. Another Air Force sweep destroyed seven of eleven trucks in a convoy near Vinh.

The total number of Communist MIGs claimed shot down by U.S. fliers rose to 74 Saturday with the downing of two MIG17s by Air Force pilots who were attacking a rail line running from Hanoi to China.

A flight of MIGs tried to intercept the raiding F105 Thunderchiefs. But U.S. pilots shot two of the swept-wing Red fighters out of the skies with missile and cannon fire within 90 seconds.

The U.S. has so far lost 20 planes in aerial combat.

Two groups of Communist defectors surrendered in Quang Ngai Province Saturday. One group of 24, waving surrender passes dropped by psychological warfare planes, walked into a U.S. brigade headquarters shortly after a stiff battle with an Army task force. Another group of 12 surrendered a short time later.

In the same area 50 water buffalo were corralled by 101st Airborne Division troops. The soldiers turned the animals over to South Vietnamese authorities for distribution to farmers in the more friendly coastal regions.

Meanwhile, Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos and U.S. Ambassador William McCormick Blair Jr. reached an agreement whereby the United States may use the central Philippine air base of Mactan for as long as the Vietnam war continues.

The Bitter With The Sweet

Cuba Premier Fidel Castro is learning about agriculture.

Sugar production is the backbone of Cuba's economy and has received much attention from Mr. Castro.

In his sugar perspective plan, he foresaw a gradual increase in annual production reaching 10 million metric tons by the end of this decade.

Only 1965 production lived up to expectations, when 6 million metric tons were harvested. Last year, production was off the mark by 2 million tons when the crop amounted to only 4.5 tons.

The figure for 1967 was set at 7.5 tons. Production for this year will not go above 6.2 million tons.

A higher production figure is desperately needed by Cuba so it will have a sizable amount for sale on the world market.

By the time Cuba meets its commitment of 4 million tons to Russia, a million tons to other Communist bloc nations and sets aside 400,000 tons for domestic consumption, only about 800,000 tons are left for the world market.

Cuba depends on marketing of the leftover amount for hard currency and payment of debts in the West.

In 1960 Mr. Castro began a "People's Harvest" program by mobilizing city workers and young people to assist in harvesting sugar cane.

In pre-Castro years, the harvesting season required less than four months. Harvesting of the 1967 crop started last November and will not be finished until early July.

The Cuban premier needs only to look at the agriculture production record of Russia to see that collectivization and forced labor programs do not bring desired results.

Russia's greatest agricultural triumph came when small plots of land were turned over to farmers who would derive some direct benefit if production rose above a specific level.

Under the free enterprise setup, nearly 40 per cent of Soviet vegetables, milk and meat were produced from only 3.5 per cent of the arable land.

Now Mr. Castro plans to up production by increasing fertilization.

Again, he could ask Russia about that too. Nikita Khrushchev tried it and failed.

The truth is indisputable. There is no substitute for free enterprise farming.

Water Hazards

Friday's drowning at Beaver Falls and Saturday's near-drowning at Midland point up once again the annual seasonal hazard in tri-state area waters.

The rules of safety don't change: young and old alike should know how to swim, should swim with a "buddy" and in waters protected by life guards, should never take chances.

We are fortunate in having so many streams, lakes, ponds and pools, but each poses the risk of death for the unwary swimmer or boater.

Inevitably summer brings this sudden tragedy. Make sure that you and your family don't jeopardize your lives by ignoring the common-sense rules which can be the lines dividing life and death.

Major Rests In Peace

At least one "ghost rider in the sky" doesn't have to bear the additional burden of a dishonorable discharge from the U.S. Cavalry any longer.

The Army Board for Correction of Military Records has cleared the name of Maj. Marcus A. Reno who fought at the battle of the Little Big Horn.

Maj. Reno was court martialed on charges of brawling, drunkenness and window peeping in 1880 and given a dishonorable discharge from the Army.

Researchers and a great-grandnephew, Charles Reno, contend that Maj. Reno didn't get a fair shake because of animosity toward the officer stemming from the battle of the Little Big Horn.

Maj. Reno was in charge of a detachment of men split off from Gen. Custer's main force and failed to go to Custer's aid. Following the battle he was accused of cowardice.

Although cleared by a board of inquiry, he became a controversial figure.

Researchers feel Custer's widow helped keep pressure on the major because she wanted the Little Big Horn disaster blamed on someone other than her husband.

It was on this plea of unfair treatment that Charles Reno and his supporters built their case.

Action by the Army board clearing Maj. Reno means his military record now will show an honorable dischages on April 1, 1880.

The great-grandnephew says he plans to move the major's remains to Custer National Cemetery in Montana. This had been impossible while the dishonorable discharge was on his record.

The wheels of justice sometime grind slowly, But at least they do grind.

Now Maj. Reno can rest in peace.

Declined With Thanks

So this is the year of the class reunion.

Good old Mryt and George have got together out there in Podunk Junction to rally the grads. If you know the addresses of any of the following, classmates, tell old Myrt and George so they can pass the word.

Won't it be grand to see everybody again?

No, Myrt. No, George.

It won't be grand.

It will be a kick in the throat. You remember how it was five years ago when the gang got together the last time.

Gang? That is putting it mildly.

Is it possible these derelicts and misfits once lived under the illusion they were the hope of the world, the wave of the future, the salvation of mankind?

What kind of kickapoo juice were they guzzling in those days that blinded them to the truth?

There were a rag-tag crew of mediocrities, that's what they were. Agnes, the prettiest girl in the class, was destined to weigh three pounds less than a horse when she got going. Harry, the boy most likely to succeed, was slated for a vacation at state expense behind bars.

Edgar, the handsome one, was merely the least ugly of a bad lot.

Ruth, the girl with all the answers—the paragon of academic excellence—rose to become cashier in a bank and milked it of $32,000 before the examiners caught up to her.

Steve, Chuck, Abner and Rennie—there was a quartet. They were the muscle boys. And what happened? Their muscles all got into one big knot at their waistlines.

Dottie, Edith, Betsey, Cynthia and Gloria—the pulchritudinous quintet. They led cheers. Not one can see her toes today. Where they didn't sag, they bulged.

You remember them well.

The last reunion was a nightmare in a funhouse.

Then there was the official picture. The photographer asked everybody to look happy. The result looked like a street scene in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Standing there like a zombie in the second row was a familiar figure—someone you knew you had seen before, either in a funeral parlor or a waxworks.

It took minutes to remember where you had seen that desiccated face before. It was that morning in the bathroom mirror while you were sprucing up for the last class reunion.

No, Myrt. No, George. We will not turn in the addresses of anyone we know who might go to the class reunion.

It will be an act of mercy to forget the whole thing.

Life is dismal enough without hitting yourself on the head with the point of Father Time's scythe. We decline with thanks.

Heads Up:

. . . Brief Pause

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

No matter how critical the world situation is, you can always count on television commercials to relieve the tension. I have been watching almost every TV newscast during the crucial Middle East situation and I've begun to wonder how a newspaper would look if the advertisements were interspersed with news stories, as they are on TV. Probably something like this:

Art Buchwald

NASSER THREATENS TO DESTROY ISRAEL.

CAIRO—President Nasser threatened today to drive Israel into the sea. We'll give you the details following this message:

SAFEWAY ANNOUNCES fantastic holiday sales. Fresh corn, 6 ears, 39 cents. Potato chips, twin package, 49 cents. Fresh bread, four loaves, $1. Tomato sauce, 2 8-oz. cans, 29 cents. Fryer parts sale: breasts or drumsticks, 50 cents lb., thighs or legs, 53 cents lb. Paper plates, package of 15, 49 cents.

Nasser said in a news conference that Israel was the aggressor and he was ready to go to war at any time. He also warned that if the United States gave any support to Israel he would bar the United States from the Suez Canal.

U.S. diplomatic sources called for restraint on both sides and said they would support a Big Four conference to resolve the dispute. But before going into details on that story, let's see what the Zoomar Discount House is featuring for its week-end sales:

COLOR TV consoles, your choice, $388. Air-conditioners, 5,000 BTU, $125. Portable fans, $6.99. Tape recorders, $68.

Credit given to anyone who has a job. Open until midnight during this fantastic sale.

STATE DEPARTMENT sources in the United States refused to speculate on what action this country would take in the present crisis. It is believed that every effort would be made to use U.N. machinery, but if this failed, the United States would attempt to get backing from France and Great Britain in any action it might take to guarantee free access to the Gulf of Aqaba.

In the meantime, President Charles de Gaulle of France was trying to avoid getting involved in any action that might hurt his role as the leader of the Third Force in the world. Before printing that story let's pause for a moment and talk about crash dieting.

CRASH DIETING is dangerous to the system, and there is scientific proof that it can do your body more harm than the weight you take off. Easy-Weight has the answer. You lose slowly but surely. You feel better because you still eat what you want to, but you eat less of it.

Easy-Weight tastes like candy and looks like tiny baked potatoes. Mrs. Helen Trimbone lost 50 lbs. in six months. That's why she never had to take advantage of our money-back guarantee.

Although France played a leading role in helping Israel during the Suez crisis, it is believed that she is no longer willing to go to the aid of Israel at this time as she has made great gains in the Arab world since Algeria's independence. Of course, the key to the Middle East situation, a situation becoming more dangerous every day, is the Soviet Union. But before our dispatch from Moscow, let's read some classified ads.

FOR SALE—Beagle, 6 months old. Paper trained. Affectionate, kind, looking for a good home. Box 123.

ANNOUNCEMENT — My wife Ida having left my bed and board, I am no longer responsible for any of her debts. Charles Zip-Code Cooley.

PERSONAL — Harriet, if you read this message, contact Fred. He has a message for you from Sam, who is heartbroken over what you did to George—Carl.

And now back to Moscow and the world news.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Remember those cartoons you see once in a while a caveman in a bearskin with a club over his shoulder dragging a cavewoman by the hair? She also is clad in bearskin.

The thought of those cartoons came back to me a few weeks ago when that topless lady cellist was dragged into court on an indecent exposure charge.

The era when people lived in caves was probably even a little bit before your time, Twill, but you must have heard talk about it when you were a child.

There sure must have been a lot of gossip flying around the cave dwellers' neighborhood when the first cavewoman got up enough nerve to appear in public in her bearskin instead of her bareskin.

There — I said it and I'm glad!

If that first cavewoman who wore a bearskin could see what she started, she would be spinning in her grave.

The mind boggles at the dress styles of men and women which have come and gone — even at those which still exist since that first bearskin.

Men in plumed hats, kilts, mini-skirts and silk tights, which in some courts of law would be considered absolutely indecent.

Women in heaven knows what all — you probably would be more expert than I on this. Hoopskirts, bustles, hair switches and rat nests, foundations to sustain the fundament.

Men may still have foam ruber padding in the shoulders of their coats but women prefer to use it elsewhere, I have been told.

I wouldn't have taken up your time with all this if the judge had just found the topless lady cellist guilty of performing a lewd act. But in a long judicial or unjudicial opinion, he ventured into treacherous waters by taking a swipe at mini-skirts, mod outfits, beatniks and fashion designers who dipleased him.

If you should happen to wind up next to His Honor at a cocktail party, tell him he is licked before he starts and wish him a happy landing.

The trouble with you, me and the judge is, Twill, that we took that old British poet seriously when he wrote:

"Be not the first by whom the new is tried,

"Nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

You, I and the judge can get lost in a crowd without anybody ever giving us a second glance.

You can blame whoever you want to, but I'm blaming those cave dwellers for starting the whole sorry business.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Odd Facts

"Sirocco" is the Italian name for two different kinds of southeast winds. They occur frequently in countries on the north side of the Mediterranean Sea. Both winds are warm because they come from warm regions, but one is a damp wind that usually comes before a rain, while the other is dry and carries dust from the Sahara Desert.

Big And Small

By James Marlow

The Bomb Makes A Difference

WASHINGTON

The nuclear bomb didn't end war, but it does make the big powers a little more thoughtful and a little less overbearing, which is a good excuse for the smaller ones to take advantage of them.

And, in taking advantage of them, the small ones can dare the big ones and even tangle with them, feeling rather safe when they do since, in a sense, the nuclear bomb has immobilized its owners.

A couple of good examples are Vietnam and the Middle East.

If Ho Chi Minh and his North Vietnamese feared they would be wiped off the map with a niclear blast if they took on the United States, no doubt there would be no war in Vietnam today.

The North Vietnamese have proved themselves tremendously brave, but they are neither lunatics nor suicide - bent and they would have been both if they had felt, when they got into this war, the United States would use the bomb.

BUT THEY had several reasons to know the United States would be reluctant to go that far: the inhumanity of it, the scorchingly bad world reaction and the possibility the Soviets might get in with their nuclear bombs.

On the other hand, the Soviets themselves have avoided getting directly involved. Vietnam is a long way from Soviet territory and it is within the sphere of Chinese influence, not Soviet.

So the Soviets have been reluctant to butt in, knowing that in a world where one thing leads to another they might, before they knew it, be in a nuclear war with the United States, a war in which Vietnam would be only a minor episode.

The Soviets haven't even exerted themselves overmuch in giving other kinds of help to Ho Chi Minh. But, if the United States used nuclear weapons, the Soviets, much as they dreaded it, might feel compelled out of self - consciousness before the Communist world to use nuclear bombs on the United States.

Perhaps Moscow wouldn't have done anything of the kind. But there was always the chance it might. So the United States has limited itself to the so-called traditional bombs in North Vietnam.

And the North Vietnamese, knowing the odds against total destruction for them, took their chance, and while they are not winning they are not losing.

EGYPTIAN President Gamal Abdel Nasser has played the same kind of game, and no doubt for the same kind of reasons, in bringing the Mideast to the edge of war, closing the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping, while increasing his prestige in the Arab world to a new high.

The one missing link in this one, which may make it different from Vietnam, is the Soviet Union, because no one at this point seems to know whether the Soviets, to smash Western influence in the area while increasing their own, connived with Nasser to do what he did.

The Soviets know the United States know that if it takes military action to break Nasser's back so close to the Soviet homeland, the Soviets may come to his aid and, with one shot leading to another, wind up in an American-Soviet nuclear war.

No wonder the Johnson administration has been working in silence and behind the scenes, without threats. Threats might bring responding threats from Moscow and that in itself might force a showdown.

Like the Soviets with Vietnam, President Johnson with the Middle East has to ask himself: Is the Mideast important enough to the United States and its Western allies to risk a nuclear war to save Israel?

The nuclear bomb has even given the big powers a new perspective, for what may seem dreadfully important today may seem inconsequential tomorrow if, after butting heads, all that is left are a few remnants of life.

The Bitter With The Sweet

Cuba Premier Fidel Castro is learning about agriculture.

Sugar production is the backbone of Cuba's economy and has received much attention from Mr. Castro.

In his sugar perspective plan, he foresaw a gradual increase in annual production reaching 10 million metric tons by the end of this decade.

Only 1965 production lived up to expectations, when 6 million metric tons were harvested. Last year, production was off the mark by 2 million tons when the crop amounted to only 4.5 tons.

The figure for 1967 was set at 7.5 tons. Production for this year will not go above 6.2 million tons.

A higher production figure is desperately needed by Cuba so it will have a sizable amount for sale on the world market.

By the time Cuba meets its commitment of 4 million tons to Russia, a million tons to other Communist bloc nations and sets aside 400,000 tons for domestic consumption, only about 800,000 tons are left for the world market.

Cuba depends on marketing of the leftover amount for hard currency and payment of debts in the West.

In 1960 Mr. Castro began a "People's Harvest" program by mobilizing city workers and young people to assist in harvesting sugar cane.

In pre-Castro years, the harvesting season required less than four months. Harvesting of the 1967 crop started last November and will not be finished until early July.

The Cuban premier needs only to look at the agriculture production record of Russia to see that collectivization and forced labor programs do not bring desired results.

Russia's greatest agricultural triumph came when small plots of land were turned over to farmers who would derive some direct benefit if production rose above a specific level.

Under the free enterprise setup, nearly 40 per cent of Soviet vegetables, milk and meat were produced from only 3.5 per cent of the arable land.

Now Mr. Castro plans to up production by increasing fertilization.

Again, he could ask Russia about that too. Nikita Khrushchev tried it and failed.

The truth is indisputable. There is no substitute for free enterprise farming.

Water Hazards

Friday's drowning at Beaver Falls and Saturday's near-drowning at Midland point up once again the annual seasonal hazard in tri-state area waters.

The rules of safety don't change: young and old alike should know how to swim, should swim with a "buddy" and in waters protected by life guards, should never take chances.

We are fortunate in having so many streams, lakes, ponds and pools, but each poses the risk of death for the unwary swimmer or boater.

Inevitably summer brings this sudden tragedy. Make sure that you and your family don't jeopardize your lives by ignoring the commonsense rules which can be the lines dividing life and death.

Major Rests In Peace

At least one "ghost rider in the sky" doesn't have to bear the additional burden of a dishonorable discharge from the U.S. Cavalry any longer.

The Army Board for Correction of Military Records has cleared the name of Maj. Marcus A. Reno who fought at the battle of the Little Big Horn.

Maj. Reno was court martialed on charges of brawling, drunkenness and window peeping in 1880 and given a dishonorable discharge from the Army.

Researchers and a great-grandnephew, Charles Reno, contend that Maj. Reno didn't get a fair shake because of animosity toward the officer stemming from the battle of the Little Big Horn.

Maj. Reno was in charge of a detachment of men split off from Gen. Custer's main force and failed to go to Custer's aid. Following the battle he was accused of cowardice.

Although cleared by a board of inquiry, he became a controversial figure.

Researchers feel Custer's widow helped keep pressure on the major because she wanted the Little Big Horn disaster blamed on someone other than her husband.

It was on this plea of unfair treatment that Charles Reno and his supporters built their case.

Action by the Army board clearing Maj. Reno means his military record now will show an honorable dischages on April 1, 1880.

The great-grandnephew says he plans to move the major's remains to Custer National Cemetery in Montana. This had been impossible while the dishonorable discharge was on his record.

The wheels of justice sometime grind slowly, But at least they do grind.

Declined With Thanks

So this is the year of the class reunion.

Good old Mryt and George have got together out there in Podunk Junction to rally the grads. If you know the addresses of any of the following, classmates, tell old Myrt and George so they can pass the word.

Won't it be grand to see everybody again?

No, Myrt. No, George.

It won't be grand.

It will be a kick in the throat. You remember how it was five years ago when the gang got together the last time.

Gang? That is putting it mildly.

Is it possible these derelicts and misfits once lived under the illusion they were the hope of the world, the wave of the future, the salvation of mankind?

What kind of kickapoo juice were they guzzling in those days that blinded them to the truth?

There were a rag-tag crew of mediocrities, that's what they were. Agnes, the prettiest girl in the class, was destined to weigh three pounds less than a horse when she got going. Harry, the boy most likely to succeed, was slated for a vacation at state expense behind bars.

Edgar, the handsome one, was merely the least ugly of a bad lot.

Ruth, the girl with all the answers—the paragon of academic excellence—rose to become cashier in a bank and milked it of $32,000 before the examiners caught up to her.

Steve, Chuck, Abner and Rennie—there was a quartet. They were the muscle boys. And what happened? Their muscles all got into one big knot at their waistlines.

Dottie, Edith, Betsey, Cynthia and Gloria—the pulchritudinous quintet. They led cheers. Not one can see her toes today. Where they didn't sag, they bulged.

You remember them well.

The last reunion was a nightmare in a funhouse.

Then there was the official picture. The photographer asked everybody to look happy. The result looked like a street scene in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

Standing there like a zombie in the second row was a familiar figure—someone you knew you had seen before, either in a funeral parlor or a waxworks.

It took minutes to remember where you had seen that desiccated face before. It was that morning in the bathroom mirror while you were sprucing up for the last class reunion.

No, Myrt. No, George. We will not turn in the addresses of anyone we know who might go to the class reunion.

It will be an act of mercy to forget the whole thing.

Life is dismal enough without hitting yourself on the head with the point of Father Time's scythe. We decline with thanks.

This 'n That

Among American school children, only about 7 per cent are lefthanded, as compared with about 80 per cent who are righthanded. The remainder are ambidextrous.

Pure silver is mined chiefly in Mexico and Peru; the provinces of British Columbia and Ontario in Canada; the state of New South Wales in Australia and Arizona, Idaho and Montana in the United States.

Heads Up:

. . . Brief Pause

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

No matter how critical the world situation is, you can always count on television commercials to relieve the tension. I have been watching almost every TV newscast during the crucial Middle East situation and I've begun to wonder how a newspaper would look if the advertisements were interspersed with news stories, as they are on TV. Probably something like this:

Art Buchwald

N A S S E R THREATENS TO D E S T R O Y ISRAEL.

CAIRO—President Nasser threatened today to drive Israel into the sea. We'll give you the details following this message:

SAFEWAY ANNOUNCES fantastic holiday sales. Fresh corn, 6 ears, 39 cents. Potato chips, twin package, 49 cents. Fresh bread, four loaves, $1. Tomato sauce, 2 8-oz. cans, 29 cents. Fryer parts sale: breasts or drumsticks, 50 cents lb., thighs or legs, 53 cents lb. Paper plates, package of 15, 49 cents.

Nasser said in a news conference that Israel was the aggressor and he was ready to go to war at any time. He also warned that if the United States gave any support to Israel he would bar the United States from the Suez Canal.

U.S. diplomatic sources called for restraint on both sides and said they would support a Big Four conference to resolve the dispute. But before going into details on that story, let's see what the Zoomar Discount House is featuring for its week-end sales:

COLOR TV consoles, your choice, $388. Air-conditioners, 5,000 BTU, $125. Portable fans, $6.99. Tape recorders, $68.

Credit given to anyone who has a job. Open until midnight during this fantastic sale.

STATE DEPARTMENT sources in the United States refused to speculate on what action this country would take in the present crisis. It is believed that every effort would be made to use U.N. machinery, but if this failed, the United States would attempt to get backing from France and Great Britain in any action it might take to guarantee free access to the Gulf of Aqaba.

In the meantime, President Charles de Gaulle of France was trying to avoid getting involved in any action that might hurt his role as the leader of the Third Force in the world. Before printing that story let's pause for a moment and talk about crash dieting.

CRASH DIETING is dangerous to the system, and there is scientific proof that it can do your body more harm than the weight you take off. Easy-Weight has the answer. You lose slowly but surely. You feel better because you still eat what you want to, but you eat less of it.

Easy-Weight tastes like candy and looks like tiny baked potatoes. Mrs. Helen Trimbone lost 50 lbs. in six months. That's why she never had to take advantage of our money-back guarantee.

Although France played a leading role in helping Israel during the Suez crisis, it is believed that she is no longer willing to go to the aid of Israel at this time as she has made great gains in the Arab world since Algeria's independence. Of course, the key to the Middle East situation, a situation becoming more dangerous every day, is the Soviet Union. But before our dispatch from Moscow, let's read some classified ads.

FOR SALE—Beagle, 6 months old. Paper trained. Affectionate, kind, looking for a good home. Box 123.

ANNOUNCEMENT — My wife Ida having left my bed and board, I am no longer responsible for any of her debts. Charles Zip-Code Cooley.

PERSONAL — Harriet, if you read this message, contact Fred. He has a message for you from Sam, who is heartbroken over what you did to George—Carl.

And now back to Moscow and the world news.

Letter From Max

By Martin Miller

Dear Truman Twill:

Remember those cartoons you see once in a while a caveman in a bearskin with a club over his shoulder dragging a cavewoman by the hair? She also is clad in bearskin.

The thought of those cartoons came back to me a few weeks ago when that topless lady cellist was dragged into court on an indecent exposure charge.

The era when people lived in caves was probably even a little bit before your time, Twill, but you must have heard talk about it when you were a child.

There sure must have been a lot of gossip flying around the cave dwellers' neighborhood when the first cavewoman got up enough nerve to appear in public in her bearskin instead of her bareskin.

There — I said it and I'm glad!

If that first cavewoman who wore a bearskin could see what she started, she would be spinning in her grave.

The mind boggles at the dress styles of men and women which have come and gone — even at those which still exist since that first bearskin.

Men in plumed hats, kilts, mini-skirts and silk tights, which in some courts of law would be considered absolutely indecent.

Women in heaven knows what all — you probably would be more expert than I on this. Hoopskirts, bustles, hair switches and rat nests, foundations to sustain the fundament.

Men may still have foam ruber padding in the shoulders of their coats but women prefer to use it elsewhere, I have been told.

I wouldn't have taken up your time with all this if the judge had just found the topless lady cellist guilty of performing a lewd act. But in a long judicial or unjudicial opinion, he ventured into treacherous waters by taking a swipe at mini-skirts, mod outfits, beatniks and fashion designers who dipleased him.

If you should happen to wind up next to His Honor at a cocktail party, tell him he is licked before he starts and wish him a happy landing.

The trouble with you, me and the judge is, Twill, that we took that old British poet seriously when he wrote:

"Be not the first by whom the new is tried,

"Nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

You, I and the judge can get lost in a crowd without anybody ever giving us a second glance.

You can blame whoever you want to, but I'm blaming those cave dwellers for starting the whole sorry business.

Faithfully yours,
MAX

Odd Facts

"Sirocco" is the Italian name for two different kinds of southeast winds. They occur frequently in countries on the north side of the Mediterranean Sea. Both winds are warm because they come from warm regions, but one is a damp wind that usually comes before a rain, while the other is dry and carries dust from the Sahara Desert.

The guitar has gained phenomenally in popularity during the last 10 years. In 1955, Americans spent about $23 million on guitars, whereas last year they bought $125 million worth.

Big And Small

By James Marlow

The Bomb Makes A Difference

WASHINGTON

The nuclear bomb didn't end war, but it does make the big powers a little more thoughtful and a little less overbearing which is a good excuse for the smaller ones to take advantage of them.

And, in taking advantage of them, the small ones can dare the big ones and even tangle with them, feeling rather safe when they do since, in a sense, the nuclear bomb has immobilized its owners.

A couple of good examples are Vietnam and the Middle East.

If Ho Chi Minh and his North Vietnamese feared they would be wiped off the map with a niclear blast if they took on the United States, no doubt there would be no war in Vietnam today.

The North Vietnamese have proved themselves tremendously brave, but they are neither lunatics nor suicide - bent and they would have been both if they had felt, when they got into this war, the United States would use the bomb.

BUT THEY had several reasons to know the United States would be reluctant to go that far: the inhumanity of it, the scorchingly bad world reaction and the possibility the Soviets might get in with their nuclear bombs.

On the other hand, the Soviets themselves have avoided getting directly involved. Vietnam is a long way from Soviet territory and it is within the sphere of Chinese influence, not Soviet.

So the Soviets have been reluctant to butt in, knowing that in a world where one thing leads to another they might, before they knew it, be in a nuclear war with the United States, a war in which Vietnam would be only a minor episode.

The Soviets haven't even exerted themselves overmuch in giving other kinds of help to Ho Chi Minh. But, if the United States used nuclear weapons, the Soviets, much as they dreaded it, might feel compelled out of self - consciousness before the Communist world to use nuclear bombs on the United States.

Perhaps Moscow wouldn't have done anything of the kind. But there was always the chance it might. So the United States has limited itself to the so-called traditional bombs in North Vietnam.

And the North Vietnamese, knowing the odds against total destruction for them, took their chance, and while they are not winning they are not losing.

EGYPTIAN President Gamal Abdel Nasser has played the same kind of game, and no doubt for the same kind of reasons, in bringing the Mideast to the edge of war, closing the Gulf of Aqaba to Israeli shipping, while increasing his prestige in the Arab world to a new high.

The one missing link in this one, which may make it different from Vietnam, is the Soviet Union, because no one at this point seems to know whether the Soviets, to smash Western influence in the area while increasing their own, connived with Nasser to do what he did.

The Soviets know the United States know that if it takes military action to break Nasser's back so close to the Soviet homeland, the Soviets may come to his aid and, with one shot leading to another, wind up in an American-Soviet nuclear war.

No wonder the Johnson administration has been working in silence and behind the scenes, without threats. Threats might bring responding threats from Moscow and that in itself might force a showdown.

Like the Soviets with Vietnam, President Johnson with the Middle East has to ask himself: Is the Mideast important enough to the United States and its Western allies to risk a nuclear war to save Israel?

The nuclear bomb has even given the big powers a new perspective for what may seem dreadfully important today may seem inconsequential tomorrow if, after butting heads, all that is left are a few remnants of life.

Pickets Lifted As Construction Workers Return

PITTSBURGH (AP)— Picket lines go down today at 72 construction jobs in the tri-state area allowing non-striking craft men to go back to work.

Six striking unions agreed to drop picket lines at a weekend meeting called by Frank DeLuca, president of the State Building Trades Council.

"We hope the removal of pickets by boilermakers will speed a fair and equitable settlement for all concerned," said Deluca.

Boilermakers Local 154 was the first to agree to remove pickets, and other striking unions followed suit.

The unions struck last week to back demands for higher pay, tying up millions of dollars of construction work in Western Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

Mid-August Seen Earliest Date

Ohio's Lawmakers Start Talking Of Adjournment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio lawmakers still facing a mountain of bills and major decisions on taxes, education, and welfare already have started to talk about final adjournment.

But even the most optimistic predictions at this point indicate many think the session can be wound up no earlier than about the middle of August. That would be about two weeks short of the 1965 record session.

Majority Republicans mention Aug. 15 as "a target date" but concede that problems of possible new taxes to pour more money into schools and possibly welfare programs could create a bottleneck.

Senate hearings this week and next on the House-approved $4.9 billion budget bill could help get that obstacle out of the way, Senate Finance Chairman Robert R. Shaw R - 16 Franklin said he hoped to complete hearings and set the stage for a floor vote within three weeks.

Work must begin soon, however, on a supplemental appropriations bill to provide about $220 million in additional funds for education promised by the administration. This means additional revenue which will have to come from some sort of tax increase.

The Ohio Tax Study Commission, created by the last legislature to explore new revenue sources, is expected to submit its formal report at a meeting Thursday. Spokesmen said the report will list several possible sources but not recommend a specific source.

That will be up to Gov. James A. Rhodes' so - called "supper committee" which will review the commission report along with other information.

Only a handful of routine bills were on Senate and House Calendars for tonight's beginning of the legislative work week. But members of both chambers face one of the heaviest committee schedules of the session.

Besides eight scheduled hearings by Shaw's committee on the budget, other major legislation slated for an airing between tonight and Thursday would allow private insurance companies to sell workmen's compensation and require municipalities to share income taxes collected from non - residents who work in the municipalities.

The Senate called for a vote tonight on a bill setting a statewide minimum age for children entering the first grade.

It would require that in 1967-68 a child must be six years old by Oct. 31 to enter school in the fall term and, after 1969, six by Sept. 30.

Annual 'Parade' Set Oct. 7 For Sweet Adelines

Announcement of the annual parade was made during the meeting of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Friday night at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

Miss Norma Jones, chairman, said the event is scheduled Oct. 7 at Westgate School. She listed the tentative program of quartets who will appear.

Reports were heard on the recent spring convention in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Faye Wright, president, president.

Mrs. Nancy Beaver and Miss Jones directed the singing.

Among the 20 present were Miss Karen Anderson, Miss Marian Shakeley and Mrs. Loretta Willoughby and Mrs. Kay Jean Wilson of Toronto.

Mid-August Seen Earliest Date

Ohio's Lawmakers Start Talking Of Adjournment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio lawmakers still facing a mountain of bills and major decisions on taxes, education, and welfare already have started to talk about final adjournment.

But even the most optimistic predictions at this point indicate many think the session can be wound up no earlier than about the middle of August. That would be about two weeks short of the 1965 record session.

Majority Republicans mention Aug. 15 as "a target date" but concede that problems of possible new taxes to pour more money into schools and possibly welfare programs could create a bottleneck.

Senate hearings this week and next on the House-approved $4.9 billion budget bill could help get that obstacle out of the way, Senate Finance Chairman Robert R. Shaw R - 16 Franklin said he hoped to complete hearings and set the stage for a floor vote within three weeks.

Work must begin soon, however, on a supplemental appropriations bill to provide about $220 million in additional funds for education promised by the administration. This means additional revenue which will have to come from some sort of tax increase.

The Ohio Tax Study Commission, created by the last legislature to explore new revenue sources, is expected to submit its formal report at a meeting Thursday. Spokesmen said the report will list several possible sources but not recommend a specific source.

That will be up to Gov. James A. Rhodes' so - called "supper committee" which will review the commission report along with other information.

Only a handful of routine bills were on Senate and House Calendars for tonight's beginning of the legislative work week. But members of both chambers face one of the heaviest committee schedules of the session.

Besides eight scheduled hearings by Shaw's committee on the budget, other major legislation slated for an airing between tonight and Thursday would allow private insurance companies to sell workmen's compensation and require municipalities to share income taxes collected from non - residents who work in the municipalities.

The Senate called for a vote tonight on a bill setting a statewide minimum age for children entering the first grade.

It would require that in 1967-68 a child must be six years old by Oct. 31 to enter school in the fall term and, after 1969, six by Sept. 30.

Annual 'Parade' Set Oct. 7 For Sweet Adelines

Announcement of the annual parade was made during the meeting of Sweet Adelines, Inc., Friday night at the Potters Savings and Loan Co. annex.

Miss Norma Jones, chairman, said the event is scheduled Oct. 7 at Westgate School. She listed the tentative program of quartets who will appear.

Reports were heard on the recent spring convention in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Faye Wright, president, president.

Mrs. Nancy Beaver and Miss Jones directed the singing.

Among the 20 present were Miss Karen Anderson, Miss Marian Shakeley and Mrs. Loretta Willoughby and Mrs. Kay Jean Wilson of Toronto.

said the Syrian army had gone into action on its front with Israel.

Both sides claimed sweeping victories in the air battles, the biggest of which broke out over the Sinai Desert.

Cairo radio claimed 70 Israeli planes had been shot down.

An Israeli Arab-language broadcast claimed Israel had destroyed 150 Egyptian planes.

Damascus radio was even more sweeping, claiming all Israeli planes "vanished from the skies of the battle." The broadcast said three Israeli planes attempting to raid Syria were shot down. Amman radio said Jordanian planes also shot down three Israeli planes in an air battle.

All Arab broadcasts called on the armies to drive the Israelis into the sea.

"Attack, destroy and liberate Palestine," cried Cairo radio.

"The forces of the Arab revolution will not pull back until the Zionists are completely obliterated from our Arab land," said Damascus radio.

"We are on the threshold of the final battle and we hope that God will grant us victory," King Hussein of Jordan said in a broadcast.

Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israel's victorious commander in the Sinai war with Egypt in 1956, declared to his army:

"Soldiers of Israel, we are not setting out for conquest. Our only aim is to frustrate the attempt of the Arab armies to conquer our country."

Dayan said the main task is "to sever and crush the right of blockades and aggression which have been created around us."

The first Israeli-Arab war came as the new state was proclaimed May 15, 1948. Israel was formed out of Palestine, long under British mandate rule. This war was ended in an armistice in 1949, broken in 1956 when Israel, backed by France and Britain, attacked Egypt. That fighting ceased under pressure from the United States and the Soviet Union.

Iraq has been moving troops into Syria and Egypt for more than a week, but there was no report they had gone into action. The Arab High Command in Cairo said Iraqi planes had joined Syria and Jordan in raids on Israeli targets.

Cairo radio said Israeli planes were bombing Cairo and "other places." The Israeli government denied any Egyptian cities had been bombed. Heavy antiaircraft fire was heard from the outskirts of Cairo but no planes were seen over the center of the Egyptian capital.

The Israeli army reported heavy fighting in the Negev Desert of southern Israel, opposite the Gaza Strip and Sinai Desert where Egypt had massed 80,000 troops. The Israeli government radio's military correspondent reported Israeli forces were advancing and Egyptian guns had been silenced in an artillery battle.

A Jordanian government spokesman reported "a fierce battle" in Jerusalem. He said "huge fires on the Israeli side."

The U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv warned all American citizens to leave on the first available commercial plane and started to burn its classified documents.

"There is no assurance that the U.S. government would be able to provide transport if the situation should suddenly deteriorate further," an embassy spokesman said.

Although the State Department had advised all Americans whose presence was not necessary to leave Israel, Egypt Syria and Jordan, an estimated 6,000 U.S. citizens are believed still in Israel.

Damascus radio, quoting an announcement from the commander of the Syrian armed forces, said: "Syria has entered the battle and is locked in battle with the enemy and will never retreat."

King Hussein of Jordan in a broadcast said the enemy "this morning carried out aggression on our Arab land and airspace, on our airports and cities." However, the king did not clarify whether Jordanian territory had been attacked.

The Egyptian military command said Israeli planes were attacking the Sharm el Sheikh area, site of the Egyptian shore batteries with which Egypt planned to enforce its blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, the victorious commander in Israel's 1956 Sinai war who was appointed Israeli defense minister last weekend, said in a broadcast that Israeli settlements at the border of the Egyptian-occupied Gaza Strip were being shelled and an air battle was continuing through its fourth hour.

Dayan said the Arabs made a lightning thrust in an attempt to cut the southern Negev off from the rest of Israel.

President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other top U.S. officials were advised of the fighting, but there was no immediate comment from the White House.

In New York, the U.N. Security Council was called into an urgent session at 9:30 a.m. EDT to consider the grave new turn of events.

Cairo Airport was closed to incoming civilian flights, and planes of Olympic Airways and TWA were turned back to Athens.

It was the first serious fighting since the new Arab-Israeli crisis developed three weeks ago.

Israel routed Egyptian troops in Sinai in 1956 but observers say Egyptian forces and their equipment have improved greatly.

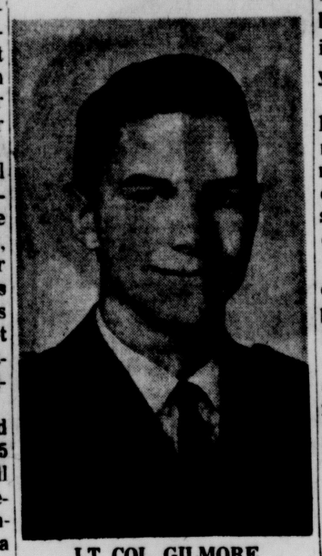
The first Israeli communique said Egyptian armored and air forces "moved against Israel, and our forces went into action in order to check them."

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser had said previously Egypt would not make the first move against Israel but would meet any Israeli attack. Cairo radio said Israel had fallen into the trap by beginning aggression.

"Since the early hours of this morning heavy fighting has been taking place," the Israeli communique said.

"A large number of Egyptian aircraft were seen approaching the Israel coast as well as toward the Negev Desert. Israel aircraft rose to engage them."

Gilmore Accepts Honor For Unit At Air Force



LT. COL. GILMORE
Will Graduate Wednesday.

Cadet Lt. Col. Robert W. Gilmore of East Liverpool, commander of the 11th Squadron at the U. S. Air Force Academy in Colorado, accepted the Air Training Command trophy for his unit at exercises today.

During the Organizational Awards Parade of the 2,900-man Cadet Wing, part of June Week activities at the academy, the 11th Squadron was cited for standing first in academics among the 24 squadrons. This means the 110 cadets in the unit had a higher collective scholastic average than any other squadron.

The 21-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. William L. Gilmore of 905 Manor Ln., Cadet Gilmore will be graduated Wednesday, receiving a B.S. degree in chemistry and a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

He has been on the superintendent's list four years, attesting to excellence in academic work and military proficiency.

It also was announced today that Gilmore has won the Capt. Edward E. Barrow award as the outstanding cadet in chemistry.

The award is sponsored by the National Society, Daughters of the American Colonists.

During a 90-day leave this summer, Gilmore will visit Alaska and spend a month in Europe, following a visit with his parents.

On Sept. 5, he will report to Duke University, Durham, N. C., to enter medical school. After four years of study there, leading to an M. D. degree, he will be assigned to a regular Air Force unit.

Cadet Gilmore was graduated from East Liverpool High School in 1963.

At the Air Force Academy, he was a member of the freshman golf team. He participated three times each year in intramural sports as a squadron team member in boxing, as well as lacrosse, wrestling and field hockey.

Riots

gate, Negro leaders who have been credited with helping to keep peace in the city's sprawling Negro districts in past years.

The focal point of violence Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights was Blue Hill Avenue, a major street leading from the city's shopping and business sections to the southeast residential areas and suburbs.

Fire fighters responding to a call at an intersection about 10 p.m. Sunday were pelted with rocks thrown from rooftops.

Later at another intersection a sniper opened fire on police from a third-floor apartment. Police returned the fire and searched the building but failed to find the sniper. No one was hit.

Another incident at an intersection led to the arrest of a man who was charged with unlawful discharge of a firearm and unlawful possession of a firearm.

Eleven persons, including seven policemen and two children, were treated at city hospital for minor injuries and released. That brought to more than 70 the number of those injured.

No accurate estimate of damage has been made, although community leaders place the loss in millions of dollars. Most of the damage was in smashed store and car windows and from fires and looting.

Police said Sunday's outbreak was the mildest of the three nights. "It was only sporadic," said Deputy Police Supt. William A. Bradley, "most of it rock throwing."

The violence was touched off Friday after a group of mothers demonstrating for better treatment from welfare workers and quicker processing of claims were ejected by police from a city building in the Grove Hall section of Roxbury.

The incident grew into an all-night running battle between police and small groups of looters.

Police said about 1,000 officers took on about 1,000 rioters during the night. Damage from that outbreak was estimated at $500,000.

Saturday night's outbreak left 15 persons injured, including a fireman shot in the wrist.

Police and fire fighters tracked down a barrage of fire alarms, most of them false, Saturday night. Sunday's disturbance followed a similar pattern.

Fires set by arsonists were reported all three nights.

Much of Roxbury, especially a 15-block segment of Blue Hill Avenue was littered with broken glass, rocks, bricks, bottles and beer cans. Many store fronts were boarded shut.

All Arab broadcasts called on the armies to drive the Israelis into the sea.

"Attack, destroy and liberate Palestine," cried Cairo radio.

"The forces of the Arab revolution will not pull back until the Zionists are completely obliterated from our Arab land," said Damascus radio.

"We are on the threshold of the final battle and we hope that God will grant us victory," King Hussein of Jordan said in a broadcast.

Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israel's victorious commander in the Sinai war with Egypt in 1956, declared to his army:

"Soldiers of Israel, we are not setting out for conquest. Our only aim is to frustrate the attempt of the Arab armies to conquer our country."

Dayan said the main task is "to sever and crush the right of blockades and aggression which have been created around us."

The first Israeli-Arab war came as the new state was proclaimed May 15, 1948. Israel was formed out of Palestine, long under British mandate rule. This war was ended in an armistice in 1949, broken in 1956 when Israel, backed by France and Britain, attacked Egypt. That fighting ceased under pressure from the United States and the Soviet Union.

Iraq has been moving troops into Syria and Egypt for more than a week, but there was no report they had gone into action. The Arab High Command in Cairo said Iraqi planes had joined Syria and Jordan in raids on Israeli targets.

Cairo radio said Israeli planes were bombing Cairo and "other places." The Israeli government denied any Egyptian cities had been bombed. Heavy antiaircraft fire was heard from the outskirts of Cairo but no planes were seen over the center of the Egyptian capital.

The Israeli army reported heavy fighting in the Negev Desert of southern Israel, opposite the Gaza Strip and Sinai Desert where Egypt had massed 80,000 troops. The Israeli government radio's military correspondent reported Israeli forces were advancing and Egyptian guns had been silenced in an artillery battle.

A Jordanian government spokesman reported "a fierce battle" in Jerusalem. He said "huge fires on the Israeli side."

The U.S. Embassy in Tel Aviv warned all American citizens to leave on the first available commercial plane and started to burn its classified documents.

"There is no assurance that the U.S. government would be able to provide transport if the situation should suddenly deteriorate further," an embassy spokesman said.

Although the State Department had advised all Americans whose presence was not necessary to leave Israel, Egypt Syria and Jordan, an estimated 6,000 U.S. citizens are believed still in Israel.

Damascus radio, quoting an announcement from the commander of the Syrian armed forces, said: "Syria has entered the battle and is locked in battle with the enemy and will never retreat."

King Hussein of Jordan in a broadcast said the enemy "this morning carried out aggression on our Arab land and airspace, on our airports and cities." However, the king did not clarify whether Jordanian territory had been attacked.

The Egyptian military command said Israeli planes were attacking the Sharm el Sheikh area, site of the Egyptian shore batteries with which Egypt planned to enforce its blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, the victorious commander in Israel's 1956 Sinai war who was appointed Israeli defense minister last weekend, said in a broadcast that Israeli settlements at the border of the Egyptian-occupied Gaza Strip were being shelled and an air battle was continuing through its fourth hour.

Dayan said the Arabs made a lightning thrust in an attempt to cut the southern Negev off from the rest of Israel.

President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other top U.S. officials were advised of the fighting, but there was no immediate comment from the White House.

In New York, the U.N. Security Council was called into an urgent session at 9:30 a.m. EDT to consider the grave new turn of events.

Cairo Airport was closed to incoming civilian flights, and planes of Olympic Airways and TWA were turned back to Athens.

It was the first serious fighting since the new Arab-Israeli crisis developed three weeks ago.

Israel routed Egyptian troops in Sinai in 1956 but observers say Egyptian forces and their equipment have improved greatly.

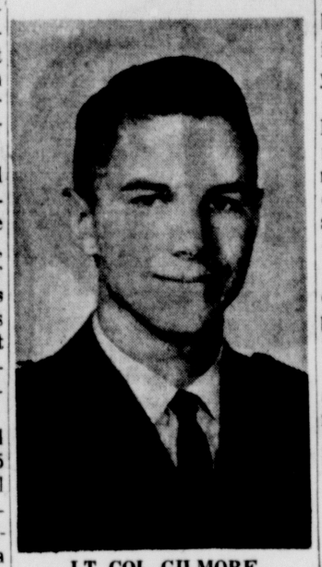
The first Israeli communique said Egyptian armored and air forces "moved against Israel, and our forces went into action in order to check them."

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser had said previously Egypt would not make the first move against Israel but would meet any Israeli attack. Cairo radio said Israel had fallen into the trap by beginning aggression.

"Since the early hours of this morning heavy fighting has been taking place," the Israeli communique said.

"A large number of Egyptian aircraft were seen approaching the Israel coast as well as toward the Negev Desert. Israel aircraft rose to engage them."

Gilmore Accepts Honor For Unit At Air Force



LT. COL. GILMORE
Will Graduate Wednesday.

Cadet Lt. Col. Robert W. Gilmore of East Liverpool, commander of the 11th Squadron at the U. S. Air Force Academy in Colorado, accepted the Air Training Command trophy for his unit at exercises today.

During the Organizational Awards Parade of the 2,900-man Cadet Wing, part of June Week activities at the academy, the 11th Squadron was cited for standing first in academics among the 24 squadrons. This means the 110 cadets in the unit had a higher collective scholastic average than any other squadron.

The 21-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. William L. Gilmore of 905 Manor Ln., Cadet Gilmore will be graduated Wednesday, receiving a B.S. degree in chemistry and a commission as a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

He has been on the superintendent's list four years, attesting to excellence in academic work and military proficiency.

It also was announced today that Gilmore has won the Capt. Edward E. Barrow award as the outstanding cadet in chemistry.

The award is sponsored by the National Society, Daughters of the American Colonists.

During a 90-day leave this summer, Gilmore will visit Alaska and spend a month in Europe, following a visit with his parents.

On Sept. 5, he will report to Duke University, Durham, N. C., to enter medical school. After four years of study there, leading to an M. D. degree, he will be assigned to a regular Air Force unit.

Cadet Gilmore was graduated from East Liverpool High School in 1963.

At the Air Force Academy, he was a member of the freshman golf team. He participated three times each year in intramural sports as a squadron team member in boxing, as well as lacrosse, wrestling and field hockey.

gate, Negro leaders who have been credited with helping to keep peace in the city's sprawling Negro districts in past years.

The focal point of violence Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights was Blue Hill Avenue, a major street leading from the city's shopping and business sections to the southeast residential areas and suburbs.

Fire fighters responding to a call at an intersection about 10 p.m. Sunday were pelted with rocks thrown from rooftops.

Later at another intersection a sniper opened fire on police from a third-floor apartment. Police returned the fire and searched the building but failed to find the sniper. No one was hit.

Another incident at an intersection led to the arrest of a man who was charged with unlawful discharge of a firearm and unlawful possession of a firearm.

Eleven persons, including seven policemen and two children, were treated at city hospital for minor injuries and released. That brought to more than 70 the number of those injured.

No accurate estimate of damage has been made, although community leaders place the loss in millions of dollars. Most of the damage was in smashed store and car windows and from fires and looting.

Police said Sunday's outbreak was the mildest of the three nights. "It was only sporadic," said Deputy Police Supt. William A. Bradley, "most of it rock throwing."

The violence was touched off Friday after a group of mothers demonstrating for better treatment from welfare workers and quicker processing of claims were ejected by police from a city building in the Grove Hall section of Roxbury.

The incident grew into an all-night running battle between police and small groups of looters.

Police said about 1,000 officers took on about 1,000 rioters during the night. Damage from that outbreak was estimated at $500,000.

Saturday night's outbreak left 15 persons injured, including a fireman shot in the wrist.

Police and fire fighters tracked down a barrage of fire alarms, most of them false, Saturday night. Sunday's disturbance followed a similar pattern.

Fires set by arsonists were reported all three nights.

Much of Roxbury, especially a 15-block segment of Blue Hill Avenue was littered with broken glass, rocks, bricks, bottles and beer cans. Many store fronts were boarded shut.

Beaver County College Sets High School Diploma Tests

The Beaver County Community College has been designated by the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction and the American Council on Education as one of 22 test centers in Pennsylvania for administering the General Educational Development Test GED.

Since its inception in 1963 over 6,000 have completed the GED Test and have been awarded a Pennsylvania Secondary School Diploma.

According to Richard Rhodes, coordinator of testing for the state, this is the first time in Pennsylvania that a community college has been named a test center for the purpose of providing all of the people of the area which it serves, both the opportunity to take the GED test for a high school diploma and to provide refresher programs in reading and mathematics for those who need additional preparation before taking the test.

THE PROGRAM was initiated by the Department of Public Instruction and implemented by the Division of Testing, Bureau of Guidance Services to replace the procedure of requiring adults to accumulate sufficient high school subject credits in order to qualify for the Secondary School Diploma.

The individual school districts in Beaver County may grant their own secondary school diploma issued by their board of school directors to adults of their area who have earned a state secondary school diploma. Several school districts in the area are already providing these.

As job entrance requirements become more strict and educational requirements for job promotions are raised, more and more adults are becoming aware of the need to acquire a diploma, both for their job needs and to satisfy a personal desire to further their educational goals.

THE TEST center will be operational this summer. Public notice will be given prior to the opening of the test center and the scheduling of the reading and math classes for those who desire to take refresher work. This program is open to all residents of Beaver County and any adult who has not had the chance to complete a high school program is strongly urged to take advantage of this opportunity to obtain a Secondary School Diploma.

The Community College of Beaver County provides free guidance services to all residents of Beaver County and interested persons are invited to call, write or visit the college in Freedom for additional information.

Dr. H. B. Monroe, president of the college, has announced the appointment of John V. Battles as guidance counselor.

Battles, a 1948 graduate of Geneva College, Beaver Falls, earned his B. A. degree in History. He received his M.Ed., with a guidance major at Duquesne University and participated in an NDEA guidance institute at Marshall University, Huntington, W. Va.

Weirton Among Key Cities Which Will Vote On Tuesday

By The Associated Press

Wheeling, Clarksburg, Morgantown, Weirton and Moundsville are the largest among 156 West Virginia cities and towns which will hold municipal elections Tuesday.

A week later, on June 13, elections are scheduled in nine more municipaltes.

Because most of the voting will be nonpartisan or for candidates running under such local labels as "Citizens Party" or "People's Party," results of the municipal balloting will furnish few clues to political trends.

—:—

WHEELING'S election will be its first under a revised city charter which will reduce the number of city council seats from 11 to nine.

Thirty - six candidates, including six incumbents, are running citywide for the nine council posts. Terms are four years and the voting is nonpartisan.

One of the Wheeling council incumbents running for re-election is Mayor Charles L. Ihlenfeld. The council elects the mayor from its own membership.

Also going before Wheeling voters Tuesday, for the second time, is a proposal for a $2-million bond issue to help finance construction of a downtown civic center, for which the city already has a $1.8-million federal grant available. The bond issue was defeated by a slim margin last November.

—:—

THREE OF Clarksburg's seven city council seats will be at issue for four-year terms in nonpartisan voting. However, more interest appears to have been generated by a three - man contest for the one seat at issue this year on the three-member municipal water board.

The six council candidates include two incumbents. A third incumbent, Bernard Berry, is giving up his council seat and running for the water board.

The council will elect one of its members mayor after the new terms begin July 1. The present mayor, Kenneth L. Trimble, is a holdover councilman. The council also selects the city manager, a post currently held by Newton M. Callahan.

One of the relatively few places with municipal candidates running as Democratic and Republican nominees is Morgantown. Seven councilmen —half the council—will be elected for two - year terms begin. Incumbent Mayor Arthur W. Buehler is a Republican, but he was elected mayor from a council which Democrats control by a close margin.

City Boy Scalded As Hose Bursts

An 8-year-old city boy was in "satisfactory" condition today at City Hospital with scalds suffered when a garden hose attached to a hot water outlet burst in the cellar of a neighbor's home Saturday.

James Seevers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seevers of 1631 Globe St. suffered first, second and third degree scalds of the chest, upper arms and back sustained when he was showered with scalding water after turning off the cold water system in a neighbor's cellar.

The boy had been helping Bud Hays of Globe St., who operates a lawn mower shop, wash a riding lawn mower in the Hays' front yard. He had gone to the cellar to disconnect the water systems. Apparently the boy closed the cold water line and the heat and pressure of the hot water line made the hose explode, the family said.

Hialeah's 1968 racing dates include 40 days from Jan. 17 through March 2.

Evacuation, Fire Safety Course To Be Conducted

An extensive program and demonstration on evacuation and fire safety will be presented Wednesday at City Hospital.

Fire Chief Alfred Van Dyne and Frank Jewell, a specialist from the Fire Prevention Bureau of the state fire marshal's office, will instruct nurses and aides in methods of evacuating patients and the proper use of fire extinguishers.

Emphasis will be placed on the children's ward, the chief said, with instruction on how to evacuate babies when only a limited amount of help is available.

The drill will be for employes of City Hospital, Osteopathic Hospital and the Extended Care Center.

It will be held in the nursing home. The chief said the nurses and aides will be shown the type of extinguisher to be used on different fires, what to do with a fire in a particular room and how to begin the evacuation.

There will be three sessions so that all may attend. The first will be at 7:30 a. m., the next at 1 p. m. and the final at 3:30 p. m.

Question - and - answer periods will follow. Similar classes were presented two years ago by Van Dyne for student nurses and aides.

It has been five years since the state participated in such a program. Van Dyne conducts his own program on evacuation and fire safety in area nursing homes.

Crash Claims District Man

A head-on collision of two cars on Route 18 in Washington County Sunday claimed the life of a Georgetown district man and injured three members of a Ravenna family.

Woodford Arbaugh, 49, of Georgetown R. D. 1 was pronounced dead on arrival at Washington (Pa.) Hospital following the 7:20 a.m. mishap between Florence and Burgettstown.

Pennsylvania state police at Carnegie said he was headed south on Route 18 when his car crossed the center line and smashed head-on into an oncoming auto operated by William D. Shaffer, 23, of Ravenna.

Shaffer and his wife, Carolyn, 22, and their daughter, Jennifer, 1, were treated at the hospital and released.

Police estimated the speed of Arbaugh's car at 50 miles an hour at the time of the crash, and said witnesses reported his auto had been weaving back and forth prior to the mishap.

Officers said their investigation so far has revealed no cause for the accident. Damage to the vehicles was set at $2,100.

The Green Bay Packers lost only two games last season, one at home and one on the road.

'Offensive' Mink Not Allowed On Plane

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Their pelts might make one of the most expensive coats for women, but the South African Airways refuse to airfreight them.

Mink give off an offensive odor that penetrates the baggage of passengers and other cargo such as foodstuffs, explained Transport Minister Ben Schoeman to his Parliamentary colleagues.

He added that the air in the holds of certain aircraft also circulated in the passenger cabin and accepting animals for air transport, therefore, had to be selective.

Youth Hunting Rabbit Bags Wolf, Bounty

ASHLAND, Mo. (AP) — A youth hunting rabbits bagged bigger game recently, and got paid for it.

When the large, light gray wolf appeared in the sights of his 22-caliber rifle, Jack J. Winkler, 12, of St. Louis fired automatically, killing the predator on the spot.

A friend directed him to the home of Judge Eugene Hamilton of the Boone County Court who made sure young Winkler got paid the $15 state bounty on wolves.

Body Build Affects Waist Measurement

One mother of three who is just under 5 feet tall is perplexed because her waist is 28½ inches, while her friend, who is the same height and weighs the same as she does, 125 pounds, has a 24-inch waist measurement. She writes:

Ida Jean Kain

"I read with interest your column concerning fat distribution in which you suggested the reader ask her family doctor to recommend an endocrinologist. Doctors to whom I complain about my weight just tell me to watch what I eat. I really wouldn't care if I stayed the same weight if I were slim in the middle. My friend's small waist is not achieved by exercise. Would it help to see an endocrinologist?" she inquires.

—:—

THE ANSWER is no. When an endocrine imbalance exists, the disproportion in weight distribution is so marked as to assume the classical picture of glandular dysfunction.

You inherit your build. Along with your short stature, if your figure is short - waisted, excess poundage will loom large in the middle. The span between the waist and the top of the hipbones tells the story. Tie a cord around your waist, pulling tightly. The cord will settle to the smallest part of your figure. That's your natural waistline.

From that line, measure the distance to the crest of the hipbones those little round knobs below the waistline at sides of figure. If this span is a scant two inches, you are short-waisted. A four inch span is average. If you are long - waisted, With a long - waisted figure it is far easier to keep slim.

The term waistline is misleading in that there is no cinching-in band of muscle at this area. The waist is bounded on the sides by the bias muscles of the abdomen — the oblique muscles which insert sawtooth fashion around the sides of the waist. So, what to do? Take off 15 pounds and exercise to restore bracing tone to the mid-section muscles, including the obliques.

THE FOLLOWING exercise will help you to feel firm and whittle the waist, too:

Position: "Stand" on knees, then sit back on your legs, outstretched behind you. Hold arms out at sides, shoulder level.

Action: Pull up and in strongly with middle muscles. Hold the up-lift as you bend slowly toward right side, to touch outstretched fingers to floor at far right. Don't crumple in middle as you bend! Hold to slow count of five. Come back to middle, bend to left, and again hold. Repeat five times, twice daily. Also, a stretch-sidebend, from a standing position, is streamlining.

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for Isometric Exercises. Two - toners in leaflet slim middle measurement. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of The Review.

Floating Bottles No Sign Of Litter

NEW YORK (AP) — Bottles floating on the ocean waves this summer won't necessarily be a sign of seagoing litterbugs.

Scientists of the Tropical Atlantic Biological Laboratory are releasing 7,000 bottles this spring in the Atlantic Ocean and Caribbean Sea in connection with the lab's study of oceanic surface currents.

According to the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute, bottles have been known to travel distances greater than 6,000 miles through the fury of hurricanes and buffeting tides. Because of their superior strength and resistance to corrosion, bottles are one of the world's most seaworthy objects.

Each bottle released by the Biological Laboratory will contain sand ballast and a bright orange card imprinted in four languages with a request for information about the bottle's location when it is found.

White Stocking Is Symbol Of Bootblack Unit

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP) — An immaculate white stocking is the symbol of the Lourenco Marques Bootblack Association.

Senior members of the 20-year-old private association test any would - be bootblacks' abilities before authorizing him to use the blue shirt and shorts, "official" uniform of the profession.

"All our members must know how to shine, brush and polish with expert efficiency. But more than that," the Association's president, Mussuane Ulale, said recently.

"He must prove he can polish a shoe without staining in the least a customer's white stocking," he added.

A Lourenco Marques bootblack charges each client 2.5 escudos (9 cents). Senior members have the exclusive concession of the more crowded cafes while newcomers have to toil many years an average 20 escudos (70 U.S. cents) a day.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I suppose I should be happy my husband is not a slob, but I'm beginning to think the other extreme is just as bad. Here is a sample of what goes on in our house before we leave for an evening, and it is driving me crazy.

He says, "Do I look O.K.?" I say, "Yes. You look fine, dear." He says, "Is this tie right with this shirt?" I say, "Honey, your tie is perfect." He says, "Are you sure my pants aren't too long?" I say, "No, dear, your pants are just right." He says, "Did I get a good haircut this time or did the barber take too much off over the ears?" I say, "Your haircut is beautiful, dear."

Just as we get out the door he'll say, "Is this jacket right with these trousers or should I go back and put on my herringbone?" I say, "Your jacket is perfect, dear." When we get in the car he says, "Do you think I should have put on my brown shoes?" I say, "These shoes are fine, dear."

Then when I ask, "How do you think I look tonight?" he answers, "Why must you always fish for compliments? I'm getting awfully tired building you up."

What can I do with a guy like this? — M. I.

-:-

Dear M. I.: Nothing, so don't try. A man who is so unsure of himself is not going to give his wife much bolstering. So just continue to prop him up and feed his vanity because he sure does need it, Lady.

Clearing The Air

Dear Ann: If you do not accomplish another thing in your life, the way you have put the spotlight on mental illness deserves a medal.

I was deeply moved by the letter from the young woman whose mother-in-law accused her of using her "nerves" as an excuse to avoid responsibility. I'm an older woman who must work to support myself. I'm the victim of "nerves" or mental illness — or I'm just plain nuts, whatever anybody wants to call it.

My children think I'm faking and feeling sorry for myself. They are tired of me, but they are not half as tired as I am — of myself. At times I wish I could just die and get out of their way, but I keep hoping tomorrow will be better.

Mental illness is impossible to describe to a person who has good mental health. It's like trying to describe hell. It's unreal. It's a million miles from nowhere. It has no beginning and no end.

Please tell your readers who can live reasonably normal lives, free of horrible depressions and agonizing fears, that they should thank God for every day. They're truly blessed. — STILL FIGHTING.

-:-

Dear Fighting: I've had dozens of letters today from people who share your problem. Your letter said it best, however. Chin up, and thank you for writing.

Confidentially

To Meant Well: If a vicious remark like that is your idea of "meaning well," what's your idea of a stab in the back? You sound like a woman who has an instinct for the jugular. You owe her an apology and if she accepts it consider yourself lucky.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Forfeits $15 Bond

LISBON — Thomas L. Pratt, 18, of Columbiana forfeited a $15 appearance bond Sunday in mayor's court on a charge of intoxication. Police said they prevented him from riding his motorcycle at 1:35 a. m. and detained him until daylight.

RCA Plant

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers struck the big Radio Corp. of America plant here at midnight Sunday.

Police said about 20 pickets were on duty and there were no disturbances at the plant which employs 1,600 workers.

The strike here is part of a nationwide walkout against RCA that followed weekend voting on a contract which the IBEW submitted to its 32,000 members without recommendation. The vote count has not been announced but spokesmen for locals at several of the nine plants indicated the proposed contract was rejected by a big margin. The old contract expired Thursday.

RCA reportedly has offered pay hikes of four per cent in the first year of the new contract and three per cent during each of the next two years. The union demanded a 6.5 per cent increase annually over three years.

Wages now range from $1.44 to $3.31 an hour.

Strikers Stage Mass Picketing At Rubber Plant

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Striking United Rubber Workers staged mass picketing today at the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant here to demonstrate dissatisfaction with lack of progress in the six-week -old rubber strike.

About 100 members of URW Local 5 blocked six entrances to the plant complex located just south of the center of town.

The strike against three of the nation's five leading rubber producers has idled 50,000 workers nationwide. It began April 20.

Neegotiations resume today between the URW and Goodrich at Columbus, Firestone at Cleveland, and Goodyear and Uniroyal at Cincinnati.

Work has continued at Goodyear on a day-to-day basis as it has at the General Tire & Rubber Co., even though URW talks with General broke off three weeks ago.

Bargaining sessions with General are scheduled to resume Tuesday in Cleveland.

Ohio Woman Injured In Plane Accident

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A 46-year-old Twinsburg woman was injured Sunday when a single-engine plane piloted by her husband crashed during takeoff at Casement Airport here.

The victim, Mrs. Virginia Essell, was reported in fair condition in Lake County Memorial Hospital in Painesville. Her husband, Albert, was not injured.

Cleveland Man Dies After Two Beat Him

CLEVELAND (AP) — James Dennell, 33, Cleveland, died Sunday at St. Alexis Hospital of injuries he suffered when two men broke into his home and beat him in the early morning hours.

Police said they had arrested two men in their 20's in connection with the incident.

Lloyd Phillips, No. 1 draft choice of the Chicago Bears, will be tried at defensive end during summer drills. At Arkansas he played end, tackle and linebacker.

Motorist Unhurt In Auto's Plunge

An 18-year-old Sunnyside area driver escaped injury early today when his car went off Park Way and dived over a hillside, police reported. It was one of seven weekend traffic mishaps in East Liverpool.

Robert Alan Tolson of 914 May St. told police he was driving north on Park Way about 500 feet north of Pennsylvania Ave. at 12:35 this morning when he reached into the glove compartment of his 1966 two-door sedan.

The car went off the right side of the pavement. Tolson said he turned the wheel to the left to pull back onto the road, but the car went across the highway and over the hillside on the west side. He estimated his speed at 35 miles an hour.

—:—

OFFICERS said the crash damaged the right quarter panel of the auto. There may be additional damage to the underside of the auto that was not discernible immediately, officers said. Patrolman Dwight Garvey investigated.

George Knox, 16, of Fairview Rd., Chester, was taken to City Hospital after his motorbike hit the rear of a halted auto Sunday at 1:25 p. m. on E. 3rd St. at Walnut St., police said.

Knox was released after treatment for contusions of the right knee and thigh.

The motorbike hit a 1966 auto operated by Jerry Lynn Morrison, 19, of Alliance, police said. Morrison told police he was halted in a line of traffic. Knox said he did not see the halted auto. Knox was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Meanwhile, Eugene Beard, 35, of Canfield escaped serious injury as his 1966 model sedan struck a utility pole Sunday at 6:49 p. m. at Valley and Pennsylvania Aves., police said.

Beard told police he was driving east on Pennsylvania Ave. when he suffered a seizure of a chronic illness. The car crossed the street, jumped the sidewalk and nosed into the utility pole, officers said. The crash damaged the right front fender and bumper of the auto.

—:—

A COLLISION at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. at 12:52 p. m. Sunday was blamed on the fact a Mahoning County driver attempted to catch a baby who was falling off the seat of his auto.

The crash damaged a 1960 four-door sedan driven by Charles Oliver Spencer, 50, of 1913 Lisbon St. and a 1958 two-door sedan operated by Henry D. Lemley, 27, of Youngstown.

Spencer told police he had halted for the traffic light at the foot of the Lisbon St. grade. When it turned green, he proceeded across the intersection and his auto was hit by Lemley's auto, which was eastbound on W. 8th St., he said.

Lemley said as he approached the intersection, a baby on the seat beside him began to topple off. As he reached for the child, the light turned red, he said. Lemley said he went through the traffic signal and hit the right rear door of Spencer's car.

SHRUBBERY and a fence at 301 Elizabeth St. were damaged at 3:30 a. m. Sunday when a woman's car went off the street at the junction of Harvey Ave. and Elizabeth St., police said.

The eastbound 1963 model auto was driven by Vivian Ruth Owen, 46, of 1604 Park Ave., officers said. The woman said she failed to make the sharp turn. The crash damaged the right side of her auto.

A collision on W. 8th St. near Shadyside Ave. Saturday at 9:23 p. m. damaged a 1959 model car driven by Walter E. Allen of 406 Ohio Ave., Midland, and a 1965 auto operated by Chester Plumley of 336 E. 9th St., officers said.

Allen said he passed Plumley's car and then sideswiped the local auto because he cut back too quickly. Allen said he had just purchased the car and was not accustomed to its power steering. Plumley told police he was driving in the left lane when Allen passed him on the right - hand side, striking his right front fender.

A CAR and a truck were damaged in a mishap on W. 7th St. at Jackson St. Saturday at 11:30 a. m., police said.

The collision damaged the left rear fender of a 1963 sedan operated by James W. Rhodes, 25, of 825 Mason St. and the left door of a 1963 model truck owned by Vernon Dell Dairy of R.D. 2 and operated by Carl D. Fisher Jr. of R. D. 3, officers said.

Rhodes, headed east on W. 7th St., said he halted because he did not have enough clearance to pass a parked truck. When Fisher attempted to squeeze around the parked vehicle, his truck scraped the fender of the auto, police said.

Birchard, commander in chief of the Alaska Command, died Saturday after a float plane flipped on takeoff from a remote lake on the Alaska Peninsula. Birchard, 53, a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., had headed the Alaska Command for less than a year.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I suppose I should be happy my husband is not a slob, but I'm beginning to think the other extreme is just as bad. Here is a sample of what goes on in our house before we leave for an evening, and it is driving me crazy.

He says, "Do I look O.K.:" I say, "Yes. You look fine, dear." He says, "Is this tie right with this shirt?" I say, "Honey, your tie is perfect." He says, "Are you sure my pants aren't too long?" I say, "No, dear, your pants are just right." He says, "Did I get a good haircut this time or did the barber take too much off over the ears?" I say, "Your haircut is beautiful, dear."

Just as we get out the door he'll say, "Is this jacket right with these trousers or should I go back and put on my herringbone?" I say, "Your jacket is perfect, dear." When we get in the car he says, "Do you think I should have put on my brown shoes?" I say, "These shoes are fine, dear."

Then when I ask, "How do you think I look tonight?" he answers, "Why must you always fish for compliments? I'm getting awfully tired building you up."

What can I do with a guy like this? — M. I.

-:-

Dear M. I.: Nothing, so don't try. A man who is so unsure of himself is not going to give his wife much bolstering. So just continue to prop him up and feed his vanity because he sure does need it, Lady.

Clearing The Air

Dear Ann: If you do not accomplish another thing in your life, the way you have put the spotlight on mental illness deserves a medal.

I was deeply moved by the letter from the young woman whose mother-in-law accused her of using her "nerves" as an excuse to avoid responsibility. I'm an older woman who must work to support myself. I'm the victim of "nerves" or mental illness — or I'm just plain nuts, whatever anybody wants to call it.

My children think I'm faking and feeling sorry for myself. They are tired of me, but they are not half as tired as I am — of myself. At times I wish I could just die and get out of their way, but I keep hoping tomorrow will be better.

Mental illness is impossible to describe to a person who has good mental health. It's like trying to describe hell. It's unreal. It's a million miles from nowhere. It has no beginning and no end.

Please tell your readers who can live reasonably normal lives, free of horrible depressions and agonizing fears, that they should thank God for every day. They're truly blessed. — STILL FIGHTING.

-:-

Dear Fighting: I've had dozens of letters today from people who share your problem. Your letter said it best, however. Chin up, and thank you for writing.

Confidentially

To Meant Well: If a vicious remark like that is your idea of "meaning well," what's your idea of a stab in the back? You sound like a woman who has an instinct for the jugular. You owe her an apology and if she accepts it consider yourself lucky.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Forfeits $15 Bond

LISBON — Thomas L. Pratt, 18, of Columbiana forfeited a $15 appearance bond Sunday in mayor's court on a charge of intoxication. Police said they prevented him from riding his motorcycle at 1:35 a. m. and detained him until daylight.

RCA Plant

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers struck the big Radio Corp. of America plant here at midnight Sunday.

Police said about 20 pickets were on duty and there were no disturbances at the plant which employs 1,600 workers.

The strike here is part of a nationwide walkout against RCA that followed weekend voting on a contract which the IBEW submitted to its 32,000 members without recommendation. The vote count has not been announced but spokesmen for locals at several of the nine plants indicated the proposed contract was rejected by a big margin. The old contract expired Thursday.

RCA reportedly has offered pay hikes of four per cent in the first year of the new contract and three per cent during each of the next two years. The union demanded a 6.5 per cent increase annually over three years.

Wages now range from $1.44 to $3.31 an hour.

Strikers Stage Mass Picketing At Rubber Plant

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Striking United Rubber Workers staged mass picketing today at the B. F. Goodrich Co. plant here to demonstrate dissatisfaction with lack of progress in the six-week -old rubber strike.

About 100 members of URW Local 5 blocked six entrances to the plant complex located just south of the center of town.

The strike against three of the nation's five leading rubber producers has idled 50,000 workers nationwide. It began April 20.

Negotiations resume today between the URW and Goodrich at Columbus, Firestone at Cleveland, and Goodyear and Uniroyal at Cincinnati.

Work has continued at Goodyear on a day-to-day basis as it has at the General Tire & Rubber Co., even though URW talks with General broke off three weeks ago.

Bargaining sessions with General are scheduled to resume Tuesday in Cleveland.

Ohio Woman Injured In Plane Accident

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A 46-year-old Twinsburg woman was injured Sunday when a single-engine plane piloted by her husband crashed during takeoff at Casement Airport here.

The victim, Mrs. Virginia Essell, was reported in fair condition in Lake County Memorial Hospital in Painesville. Her husband, Albert, was not injured.

Cleveland Man Dies After Two Beat Him

CLEVELAND (AP) — James Dennell, 33, Cleveland, died Sunday at St. Alexis Hospital of injuries he suffered when two men broke into his home and beat him in the early morning hours.

Police said they had arrested two men in their 20's in connection with the incident.

Lloyd Phillips, No. 1 draft choice of the Chicago Bears, will be tried at defensive end during summer drills. At Arkansas he played end, tackle and linebacker.

Motorist Unhurt In Auto's Plunge

An 18-year-old Sunnyside area driver escaped injury early today when his car went off Park Way and dived over a hillside, police reported. It was one of seven weekend traffic mishaps in East Liverpool.

Robert Alan Tolson of 914 May St. told police he was driving north on Park Way about 500 feet north of Pennsylvania Ave. at 12:35 this morning when he reached into the glove compartment of his 1966 two-door sedan.

The car went off the right side of the pavement. Tolson said he turned the wheel to the left to pull back onto the road, but the car went across the highway and over the hillside on the west side. He estimated his speed at 35 miles an hour.

OFFICERS said the crash damaged the right quarter panel of the auto. There may be additional damage to the underside of the auto that was not discernible immediately, officers said. Patrolman Dwight Garvey investigated.

George Knox, 16, of Fairview Rd., Chester, was taken to City Hospital after his motorbike hit the rear of a halted auto Sunday at 1:25 p. m. on E. 3rd St. at Walnut St., police said.

Knox was released after treatment for contusions of the right knee and thigh.

The motorbike hit a 1966 auto operated by Jerry Lynn Morrison, 19, of Alliance, police said. Morrison told police he was halted in a line of traffic. Knox said he did not see the halted auto. Knox was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license.

Meanwhile, Eugene Beard, 35, of Canfield escaped serious injury as his 1966 model sedan struck a utility pole Sunday at 6:49 p. m. at Valley and Pennsylvania Aves., police said.

Beard told police he was driving east on Pennsylvania Ave. when he suffered a seizure of a chronic illness. The car crossed the street, jumped the sidewalk and nosed into the utility pole, officers said. The crash damaged the right front fender and bumper of the auto.

—:—

A COLLISION at W. 8th and Lisbon Sts. at 12:52 p. m. Sunday was blamed on the fact a Mahoning County driver attempted to catch a baby who was falling off the seat of his auto.

The crash damaged a 1960 four-door sedan driven by Charles Oliver Spencer, 50, of 1913 Lisbon St. and a 1958 two-door sedan operated by Henry D. Lemley, 27, of Youngstown.

Spencer told police he had halted for the traffic light at the foot of the Lisbon St. grade. When it turned green, he proceeded across the intersection and his auto was hit by Lemley's auto, which was eastbound on W. 8th St., he said.

Lemley said as he approached the intersection, a baby on the seat beside him began to topple off. As he reached for the child, the light turned red, he said. Lemley said he went through the traffic signal and hit the right rear door of Spencer's car.

SHRUBBERY and a fence at 301 Elizabeth St. were damaged at 3:30 a. m. Sunday when a woman's car went off the street at the junction of Harvey Ave. and Elizabeth St., police said.

The eastbound 1963 model auto was driven by Vivian Ruth Owen, 46, of 1604 Park Ave., officers said. The woman said she failed to make the sharp turn. The crash damaged the right side of her auto.

A collision on W. 8th St. near Shadyside Ave. Saturday at 9:23 p. m. damaged a 1959 model car driven by Walter E. Allen of 406 Ohio Ave., Midland, and a 1965 auto operated by Chester Plumley of 336 E. 9th St., officers said.

Allen said he passed Plumley's car and then sideswiped the local auto because he cut back too quickly. Allen said he had just purchased the car and was not accustomed to its power steering. Plumley told police he was driving in the left lane when Allen passed him on the right - hand side, striking his right front fender.

A CAR and a truck were damaged in a mishap on W. 7th St. at Jackson St. Saturday at 11:30 a. m., police said.

The collision damaged the left rear fender of a 1963 sedan operated by James W. Rhodes, 25, of 825 Mason St. and the left door of a 1963 model truck owned by Vernon Dell Dairy of R.D. 2 and operated by Carl D. Fisher Jr. of R. D. 3, officers said.

Rhodes, headed east on W. 7th St., said he halted because he did not have enough clearance to pass a parked truck. When Fisher attempted to squeeze around the parked vehicle, his truck scraped the fender of the auto, police said.

Birchard, commander in chief of the Alaska Command, died Saturday after a float plane flipped on takeoff from a remote lake on the Alaska Peninsula. Birchard, 53, a native of Grand Rapids, Mich., had headed the Alaska Command for less than a year.

In Your Own

Family Business

We are looking for a husband and wife team in this area interested in establishing their own business—without financial risk. The husband would retain his present job while the business gets started, and assist his wife in his spare time. Without the need for an office, this is a business a wife can run with just occasional help from her husband. A business that can increase your family income immediately, and earn $10,000 to $15,000 a year or more when developed.

The business? A family-owned distributorship for Vanda Cosmetics Company, an affiliate of Tupperware, a division of the $500 million Rexall Drug and Chemical Company.

WE TRAIN YOU

No business or cosmetics experience is required. We train you. Energy, ambition and willingness to work are the qualities we seek. Our program is complete—to the smallest detail—easy to follow, and provided to you at no cost. We use the most modern training methods and visual aids—and we bring the training to you. Our experienced management counselors will personally work with you to establish your business. Our philosophy is to provide constant personal guidance and assistance as your business grows. There is an opening in this area. If you are anxious to build a profitable business for your family, write today and please include information about both of you. We will send complete details, at no obligation to you, via air mail. Write to Dick Bartlett, Vice President, Vanda Cosmetics Company, Orlando, Florida.

In Your Own Family Business

We are looking for a husband and wife team in this area interested in establishing their own business—without financial risk. The husband would retain his present job while the business gets started, and assist his wife in his spare time. Without the need for an office, this is a business a wife can run with just occasional help from her husband. A business that can increase your family income immediately, and earn $10,000 to $15,000 a year or more when developed.

The business? A family-owned distributorship for Vanda Cosmetics Company, an affiliate of Tupperware, a division of the $500 million Rexall Drug and Chemical Company.

WE TRAIN YOU

No business or cosmetics experience is required. We train you. Energy, ambition and willingness to work are the qualities we seek. Our program is complete—to the smallest detail—easy to follow, and provided to you at no cost. We use the most modern training methods and visual aids—and we bring the training to you. Our experienced management counselors will personally work with you to establish your business. Our philosophy is to provide constant personal guidance and assistance as your business grows. There is an opening in this area. If you are anxious to build a profitable business for your family, write today and please include information about both of you. We will send complete details, at no obligation to you, via air mail. Write to Dick Bartlett, Vice President, Vanda Cosmetics Company, Orlando, Florida.

Junior Editors Quiz on ROADS

QUESTION: How did the early roads lead to our modern ones?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Rivers were once largely used for transportation. But with the discovery of the wheel and the taming of horses and oxen, roads began to be built in the ancient kingdoms. A wheeled chariot has been found, dating from 3200 B.C. indicating there were some stone-paved roads by this time. But it was the Romans who turned road building into an art, for they needed good roads to link their huge empire together. In our cross-section of a Roman road, notice that it is higher in the center. This is the key to good road building, since rainwater drains off on both sides. The Romans often built ditches to carry the runoff away. There was less road building in the Middle Ages, but with the development of industry, good road systems began to be constructed. Only 50 years ago, many American rural roads, in rainy weather, looked something like the picture in the black circle. But the great use of cars brought modern roads rapidly into being. Our cross section shows how, like a Roman road, a good modern road is higher in the center and is built over a solid foundation.

Levy Attorney Will Seek His Release On Bail

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Attorneys for Capt. Howard B. Levy, an Army doctor sentenced to three years in prison on charges of disobedience and disloyalty, plan to seek his release on bail this week.

The 30-year-old Brooklyn, N.Y., dermatologist was led in handcuffs from the court-martial room to a stockade at Ft. Jackson Saturday after his sentencing.

Levy's trial was on refusal to train Green Beret combat medics of the Special Forces, and for speaking out to soldiers against U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

He once said he would go to jail before serving in Vietnam. He says he is not a pacifist but that he believes the United States has no business in Vietnam.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Levy of Brooklyn, visited him Sunday before returning to Brooklyn. Otherwise, only his attorneys could see him.

Charles Morgan of Atlanta, American Civil Liberties Union lawyer who defended Levy, said an appeal for bail will be made to the Secretary of the Army. Meanwhile, Levy's case goes through routine military review channels.

Despite Lowered Standards

176,000 Youths Rejected For Draft During 1966

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite lowered mental standards, more than 176,000 American youths were rejected for the draft last year because they were unable to meet eveen those requirements.

Another 23,555 were turned down on both mental and medical grounds at preinduction examinations in 1966.

The lower standards, however, resulted in only about 12 per cent of potential draftees flunking mental requirements in 1966 compared with nearly 21 per cent in 1965.

These statistics appear in a report by the Army surgeon general dealing with results of examinations of youths for military service last year.

"The most significant factor that affected these results was the increased demand for military manpower caused by the intensified Vietnam conflict," the surgeon general's report said.

It brought about "decisive modifications in the standards of military acceptability—specifically, by lowering the mental standards."

The report said the mental evaluation of a potential inductee is based on tests designed to measure his general mental ability to absorb military training within reasonable time and his potential general usefulness to the service.

The 176,027 who failed to meet mental requirements last year represented a drop of 51,782 from 1965, a year of tougher standards.

The 23,555 who were both mentally and physically disqualified were some 5,000 below the previous year.

The report showed 108,259 white youths flunked mental qualification in 1966 compared with 137,225 in 1965—a drop of about 21 per cent.

Among Negro youths, 67,774 failed to meet mental standards compared with 90,584 in 1965—a decline of about 25 per cent.

The number of youths examined for the draft vaulted sharply in 1966, under the impetus of the Vietnam buildup. The 1966 total of those examined came to 1.61 million compared with 1.23 million in 1965.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Marine from Canton, Ohio, who lost a leg in Vietnam fighting was honored by the Johnstown, Pa., Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital here.

The Marine, Cpl. Donald Schweitzer, 19, whose right leg was amputated after it was injured by a booby trap near Da Nang last July, was "adopted" last month by the Johnstown Jaycees after they met him at their annual convention here. Schweitzer was made an honorary Jaycee when he was visited in the hospital Saturday.

Man, 25, Loses Eye From Shotgun Blast

MASSILLON, Ohio (AP) — A 25-year - old Garfield Heights man lost one eye and his other eye was injured when he was hit in the face by a shotgun blast during a burglary at a private golf club at nearby Canal Fulton, Stark County sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said Edward Hoffee was shot by William Lyons, the club owner, after Lyons discovered him in the pro shop early Sunday. Lyons told the officers he fired the gun after Hoffee refused his orders to come out with his hands up.

Deputies said no charges have been filed against Hoffee.

Man Injured Fatally When Hit By Rock

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A 64-year-old man attending a church picnic here was struck and injured fatally by a rock Sunday as he was walking along a path in the park. Police said the rock apparently was thrown by one of several teen - age youths who were hurling rocks into Mill Creek from a parking area overlooking the path.

The victim, Ira E. Albert, a driver for the Youngstown Transit Co., was pronounced dead of a fractured skull at a hospital. Police said it was not known if Albert was hit intentionally.

Two Youth Sought In Fatal Shooting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Columbus police sought today two young Negroes wanted for questioning in the fatal shooting of a bar employe.

The victim, identified by police as Samuel Jones, 44, of Columbus, was shot in the bar Sunday, police said.

Galbraeth Quits Post As Ohio U. Trustee

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The resignation of John W. Galbraeth as a member of Ohio University's board of trustees was announced Sunday by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes, here to speak at OU's commencement and to receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree, said, however, he is naming Galbraeth an honorary trustee.

Ohio Colleges, Universities Give Degrees

By The Associated Press

They came from near and far —clergymen and statesmen—to lay before another generation the challenges and problems of today's world.

Sunday was a commencement day in Ohio with several colleges and universities handing out their latest batches of diplomas.

And among the notables speaking to Ohio graduates were the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, controversial Episcopal theologian; Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and Foy D. Ohler, undersecretary of state for political affairs.

Gov. James A. Rhodes got in on the act too, speaking twice while receiving honorary degrees at Ohio University and Otterbein College.

Both the United States and the Communists have been substituting myths for reality, the Rev. Mr. Pike told Wilmington College's graduating class of 150.

Myths, he said, have taken the place of facts in most discussions about Vietnam. He advised his audience not to answer any questions about the war "until you and the other person have exchanged myths through which you have formed your opinions."

Kohler, speaking before 90 graduating seniors at Findlay College, praised Ohio as a state which is rejecting an isolationist philosophy often reflective of the Midwest.

He said America is awakening to its responsibilities as a world leader and Ohio with it.

Udall, before addressing Bowling Green State University's graduating class, stopped off in Toledo for a news conference.

In Toledo he said some states "are aiming too low" in the fight to curb water pollution. "Ohio is one of the states I'd like to see do more," the Interior secretary added.

At Bowling Green, he stressed the need for upgrading higher education.

Levy Attorney Will Seek His Release On Bail

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Attorneys for Capt. Howard B. Levy, an Army doctor sentenced to three years in prison on charges of disobedience and disloyalty, plan to seek his release on bail this week.

The 30-year-old Brooklyn, N.Y., dermatologist was led in handcuffs from the court-martial room to a stockade at Ft. Jackson Saturday after his sentencing.

Levy's trial was on refusal to train Green Beret combat medics of the Special Forces, and for speaking out to soldiers against U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

He once said he would go to jail before serving in Vietnam. He says he is not a pacifist but that he believes the United States has no business in Vietnam.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Levy of Brooklyn, visited him Sunday before returning to Brooklyn. Otherwise, only his attorneys could see him.

Charles Morgan of Atlanta, American Civil Liberties Union lawyer who defended Levy, said an appeal for bail will be made to the Secretary of the Army. Meanwhile, Levy's case goes through routine military review channels.

Despite Lowered Standards

176,000 Youths Rejected For Draft During 1966

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite lowered mental standards, more than 176,000 American youths were rejected for the draft last year because they were unable to meet eveen those requirements.

Another 23,555 were turned down on both mental and medical grounds at preinduction examinations in 1966.

The lower standards, however, resulted in only about 12 per cent of potential draftees flunking mental requirements in 1966 compared with nearly 21 per cent in 1965.

These statistics appear in a report by the Army surgeon general dealing with results of examinations of youths for military service last year.

"The most significant factor that affected these results was the increased demand for military manpower caused by the intensified Vietnam conflict," the surgeon general's report said.

It brought about "decisive modifications in the standards of military acceptability—specifically, by lowering the mental standards."

The report said the mental evaluation of a potential inductee is based on tests designed to measure his general mental ability to absorb military training within reasonable time and his potential general usefulness to the service.

The 176,027 who failed to meet mental requirements last year represented a drop of 51,782 from 1965, a year of tougher standards.

The 23,555 who were both mentally and physically disqualified were some 5,000 below the previous year.

The report showed 108,259 white youths flunked mental qualification in 1966 compared with 137,225 in 1965—a drop of about 21 per cent.

Among Negro youths, 67,774 failed to meet mental standards compared with 90,584 in 1965—a decline of about 25 per cent.

The number of youths examined for the draft vaulted sharply in 1966, under the impetus of the Vietnam buildup. The 1966 total of those examined came to 1.61 million compared with 1.23 million in 1965.

Johnstown Jaycees Honor Canton Marine

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Marine from Canton, Ohio, who lost a leg in Vietnam fighting was honored by the Johnstown, Pa., Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital here.

The Marine, Cpl. Donald Schweitzer, 19, whose right leg was amputated after it was injured by a booby trap near Da Nang last July, was "adopted" last month by the Johnstown Jaycees after they met him at their annual convention here. Schweitzer was made an honorary Jaycee when he was visited in the hospital Saturday.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A 64-year-old man attending a church picnic here was struck and injured fatally by a rock Sunday as he was walking along a path in the park. Galbraeth Quits Post As Ohio U. Trustee

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The resignation of John W. Galbraeth as a member of Ohio University's board of trustees was announced Sunday by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes, here to speak at OU's commencement and to receive an honorary Doctor of Laws degree, said, however, he is naming Galbraeth an honorary trustee.

Ohio Colleges, Universities Give Degrees

By The Associated Press

They came from near and far—clergymen and statesmen—to lay before another generation the challenges and problems of today's world.

Sunday was a commencement day in Ohio with several colleges and universities handing out their latest batches of diplomas.

And among the notables speaking to Ohio graduates were the Rt. Rev. James A. Pike, controversial Episcopal theologian; Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall and Foy D. Ohler, undersecretary of state for political affairs.

Gov. James A. Rhodes got in on the act too, speaking twice while receiving honorary degrees at Ohio University and Otterbein College.

Both the United States and the Communists have been substituting myths for reality, the Rev. Mr. Pike told Wilmington College's graduating class of 150.

Myths, he said, have taken the place of facts in most discussions about Vietnam. He advised his audience not to answer any questions about the war "until you and the otner person have exchanged myths through which you have formed your opinions."

Kohler, speaking before 90 graduating seniors at Findlay College, praised Ohio as a state which is rejecting an isolationist philosophy often reflective of the Midwest.

He said America is awakening to its responsibilities as a world leader and Ohio with it.

Udall, before addressing Bowling Green State University's graduating class, stopped off in Toledo for a news conference.

In Toledo he said some states "are aiming too low" in the fight to curb water pollution. "Ohio is one of the states I'd like to see do more," the Interior secretary added.

At Bowling Green, he stressed the need for upgrading higher education.

New Building Under Way In Elkton Area

ELKTON — Elkrun Township trustees are building a 40-by-60-foot equipment building on the south side of Route 154, a half-mile west of the village.

Olin Evans, chairman, said the trustees have never had a storage building and have had to keep equipment in barns or out in the open. "The new building will be convenient and give us room to work on the machines," he said.

Leslie and Butler of Lisbon R. D. began work two weeks ago and is waiting on steel for the roof after completing the concrete block work.

Robert Beatty of East Liverpool is the architect. Leslie and Butler was awarded the contract on a low bid of $17,700. The land, purchased for $400, will provide space for stockpiling road material.

Evans said the trustees expect to pay for the building without a bond issue or additional tax..

Driver, 52, Hurt In Area Collision

A Newell man was injured in a two - car collision Sunday on Route 2 southeast of Chester in which another man was charged with reckless operation.

Arthur K. DeLong, 52, of 1020 Washington St., Newell, was treated at City Hospital for a cut on the scalp received in the mishap about 12:20 a.m. south of the Route 30-2 intersection.

George W. Wiesbicki, 24, of Newell was charged by West Virginia state police and is scheduled for a hearing before Squire Eugene Allison of Chester.

Witnesses said Wiesbicki was headed downhill and apparently lost control, colliding with the oncoming auto driven by DeLong.

Saving On Impulse New Stockholm Fad

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Saving on impulse is the new fad here. If you have a one krona piece (20 U.S. cents) burning in your pocket, all you have to do is step up to an automat, drop the coin and you get a stamp. The stamps are pasted on a savings card. When it's full (15 kronor or $3), you sign the card and place it in the automat. The bank credits your savings account.

The machines are being placed in schools and canteens as an experiment by the Swedish Commercial bank.

Reds Hold Off Braves For Fourth Straight Win, 5-4

Cardinals Nip Cubs; Pirates Top Dodgers

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds are going fishing today but Manager Dave Bristol may have to make another trip to his corner barbershop.

If he does, you can bet he won't ask for a close shave.

The National League-leading Reds ran up a 5-0 lead against Atlanta Sunday, then held off the Braves 5-4 for their fourth straight victory. It was the 14th one-run game for the Reds in their last 15.

"I had a haircut the other day and had all the gray hairs cut out," the 33-year-old Cincinnati pilot cracked after giving all the Reds a day off today.

Cincinnati's third one-run verdict over Atlanta in three days protected the Reds three-game lead over second place St. Louis, which nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3. Third place San Francisco swept a doubleheader from the fading New York Mets 7-0 and 5-0, Pittsburgh trimmed Los Angeles 4-1 and Philadelphia overcame Houston 6-1 in other games.

The Reds' string of squeakers —interrupted only by a 6-1 victory at Pittsburgh two weeks ago — began on May 21 with a 2-1 loss to Philadelphia in 18 innings. They have broken even in the 14 one-run games, which include four overtime struggles.

Reliever Bob Lee, newly acquired from Los Angeles, stopped the Braves' comeback Sunday, preserving Jim Maloney's fifth victory in seven decisions. Lee came on in the eighth after Hank Aaron's 15th homer closed the gap to one run against Maloney in the seventh.

The Reds scored twice in the third inning and Leo Cardenas capped a three-run burst in the fourth with a two-run homer.

Lou Brock smacked his third homer in three games leading off the first inning, then broke a 3-3 tie with a run-scoring single in the eighth as the Cards topped Chicago behind the three-hit pitching of rookie Dick Hughes.

Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly pulled St. Louis even in the sixth after the Cubs took a 3-2 lead in the fifth with the help of center fielder Curt Flood's first error in 227 games.

Joe Gibbon, making his first start for the Giants this year, shackled the Mets on four hits in the opener while Tito Fuentes and Willie McCovey blasted three-run homers.

Mike McCormick completed the shutout sweep by scattering eight hits in the second game. The veteran left-hander was backed by four double plays and Ollie Brown's three-run homer.

Roberto Clemente wrecked the Dodgers with two homers — good for all the Pittsburgh runs — as southpaw Bob Veale gained his seventh victory against one loss. Veale needed ninth inning help from Roy Face in prevailing over the Dodgers' Don Drysdale.

The Phillies extended their winning streak to six games by rallying for six runs in the ninth after being blanked on three hits by rookie Don Wilson over the first eight innings.

Johnny Callison's leadoff double ignited the rally and Johnny Briggs' three-run homer off reliever Carroll Sembera finished the Astros.

Tribe Trades Gary Bell To Red Sox For 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — The surprising Boston Red Sox, picked in most preseason baseball forecasts for an eighth or ninth-place finish, talked pennant today after acquiring veteran right-hander Gary Bell from the Cleveland Indians.

General Manager Dick O'Connell and Manager Dick Williams, swept up by the players' enthusiasm and determination, agreed with unusual optimism that Bell could make the Red Sox a top contender in the American League race.

"This is one of those years when it looks like the pennant is up for grabs," O'Connell said. "I think we can win it. We've bolstered our starting pitching with experience and ability."

Williams, a 38-year-old former major league utility player with a hard nose and iron fist in his first season as Boston manager, admitted he was "overjoyed" by the trade announced Sunday minutes after the Red Sox dropped a 3-0 decision to the Indians.

"Our guys have felt all along we have a chance to win it all and I think this will give us a good shot at it," Williams said.

The Red Sox went after Bell after obtaining reserve infielder Jerry Adair from the Chicago White Sox for veteran relief pitcher Don McMahon and a minor league hurler Friday night.

The deal with the Indians was swung at the risk of weakening the Boston bench. The Red Sox gave up two right-handed sluggers, first baseman Tony Horton and outfielder Don Demeter, to get Bell.

Despite a 1-5 record, including a pair of losses to the Red Sox this season, the 29-year-old Bell boasts a 96-92 mark since joining the Indians in 1958.

Jerry Coleman, former New York Yankee second baseman, is the commissioner of the Atlantic Collegiate Baseball League. He also is a Yankee broadcaster.

Myler's 2-Hitter Gives Legion Win

Jack Myler hurled a two-hit shutout and received ample hitting support especially from John Stoddard and Emery Brewer in Post 374's 9-0 victory over Columbiana Sunday at Colt Field.

The local Legion nine took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, added three more runs in the third, three in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Stoddard clouted a home run over the left centerfield fence, added two other singles and scored twice.

Brewer pounded out two long triples in three trips to the plate.

Myler only walked two and struck out eight batters as he was in control all the way. He gave up a hit in the second inning and one in the sixth.

Post 374 collected a total of eight hits off two Columbiana pitchers. Coseno was the losing hurler.

Manager Paul Gill's squad plays today at Lordstown at 6 p. m.

Tigers Regain Lead; Hargan Blanks Boston

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Andy Etchebarren, unable to bunt, summoned enough energy to launch the high-flying Baltimore Orioles into the air, taking along a couple of patient young baseball fans who must have been flying even higher.

Etchebarren, after failing to bunt twice, cracked a two-run home run in the 19th inning that lifted the Orioles over Washington 7-5, Sunday, ending the longest game of the baseball season.

Beside bringing the Orioles their 14th triumph in 20 games, it sent them winging toward Friendship Airport, where two boys, about 15 years old, had waited through the marathon to fly with the players on a trip of a lifetime for a youngster.

Dick McAuliffe did not wait as long to send the Detroit Tigers back into first place in the American League as he blasted a grand slam homer in the 13th inning for an 11-7 victory over the New York Yankees in the nightcap of their twinbill. New York won the opener 2-0.

Chicago took first place by beating Kansas City 2-0 in the opener of their doubleheader and then fell back by losing 5-4.

Elsewhere in the league, Minnesota topped California 8-7 in 10 innings and Cleveland blanked Boston 3-0.

The two boys in Baltimore were the only other passengers on the Orioles scheduled flight to California to play the Angels tonight. When they discovered they would be traveling with the Orioles, they waited patiently through almost 2½ hours of departure delays until Etchebarren got them airborne.

"I didn't have much strength left," said the Baltimore catcher.

Etchebarren, who was supposed to have the day off, entered the game in the fifth inning. He ended the 5-hour and 18 minute game by connecting off Bob Priddy after Brooks Robinson singled.

The Orioles, who squandered a 4-0 lead, tied the game 5-5 in the seventh on a double by Russ Snyder and a single by Curt Blefary.

Wally Bunker, Eddie Watt, Eddie Fisher and winner Stu Miller blanked Washington after the Senators scored five times in the third.

McAuliffe unloaded his ninth season homer and fifth career slam with two out after Bill Freehan doubled and loser Dooley Womack walked two.

Pitcher Hank Aguirre had helped Detroit to an early 7-3 lead with a three-run triple, but a homer by John Kennedy started the Yankees back and Jake Gibbs tied it in the ninth with a pinch hit solo clout.

Al Downing, 6-3, hurled the Yankees to the first game victory with a five-hitter and got enough runs in the first inning on Joe Pepitone's two-run homer off Mickey Lolich.

The White Sox fell one game back of Detroit when pitcher Jim Nash capped a four-run fourth inning with a decisive run-scoring single that put Kansas City ahead 5-1 in their nightcap. Nash picked up the victory, but left in the eighth inning when Tommie Agee closed the gap to one run with a two-run homer.

Tommy John had started the White Sox off right with his first shutout of the year, a five-hitter that protected two runs driven home by Ken Berry's fourth-inning single. Jim "Catfish" Hunter took the loss.

Cleveland's Steve Hargan, 7-4, stopped Boston with his fourth shutout of the season, also a five-hitter. He got homer help from Leon Wagner, who hit his eighth leading off the fourth. Chuck Hinton and Fred Whitfield singled in the other runs.

Bob Allison put a stop to another extra inning affair when he squeezed home pinch runner Ted Uhlaender in the 10th inning for Minnesota's victory. Uhlaender ran for Rich Rollins, who opened the inning with a single, and reached third on a walk and forcehout.

The Twins and Angels had homered each other to a standoff before the bunt as Harmon Killebrew belted a 500-foot solo drive and Zoilo Versalles hit one with two on for the Twins, and Rick Reichardt hit a two-run blast and Bob Rodgers and John Werhas homered with none on for the Angels.

Pete Larson of Cornell led the Ivy League in football scoring last season with 54 points, six more than Dartmouth's Pete Walton.

Reds Hold Off Braves For Fourth Straight Win, 5-4

Cardinals Nip Cubs; Pirates Top Dodgers

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds are going fishing today but Manager Dave Bristol may have to make another trip to his corner barbershop.

If he does, you can bet he won't ask for a close shave.

The National League-leading Reds ran up a 5-0 lead against Atlanta Sunday, then held off the Braves 5-4 for their fourth straight victory. It was the 14th one-run game for the Reds in their last 15.

"I had a haircut the other day and had all the gray hairs cut out," the 33-year-old Cincinnati pilot cracked after giving all the Reds a day off today.

Cincinnati's third one-run verdict over Atlanta in three days protected the Reds three-game lead over second place St. Louis, which nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3. Third place San Francisco swept a doubleheader from the fading New York Mets 7-0 and 5-0, Pittsburgh trimmed Los Angeles 4-1 and Philadelphia overcame Houston 6-1 in other games.

The Reds' string of squeakers —interrupted only by a 6-1 victory at Pittsburgh two weeks ago — began on May 21 with a 2-1 loss to Philadelphia in 18 innings. They have broken even in the 14 one-run games, which include four overtime struggles.

Reliever Bob Lee, newly acquired from Los Angeles, stopped the Braves' comeback Sunday, preserving Jim Maloney's fifth victory in seven decisions. Lee came on in the eighth after Hank Aaron's 15th homer closed the gap to one run against Maloney in the seventh.

The Reds scored twice in the third inning and Leo Cardenas capped a three-run burst in the fourth with a two-run homer.

Lou Brock smacked his third homer in three games leading off the first inning, then broke a 3-3 tie with a run-scoring single in the eighth as the Cards topped Chicago behind the three-hit pitching of rookie Dick Hughes.

Orlando Cepeda's sacrifice fly pulled St. Louis even in the sixth after the Cubs took a 3-2 lead in the fifth with the help of center fielder Curt Flood's first error in 227 games.

Joe Gibbon, making his first start for the Giants this year, shackled the Mets on four hits in the opener while Tito Fuentes and Willie McCovey blasted three-run homers.

Mike McCormick completed the shutout sweep by scattering eight hits in the second game. The veteran left-hander was backed by four double plays and Ollie Brown's three-run homer.

Roberto Clemente wrecked the Dodgers with two homers — good for all the Pittsburgh runs — as southpaw Bob Veale gained his seventh victory against one loss. Veale needed ninth inning help from Roy Face in prevailing over the Dodgers' Don Drysdale.

The Phillies extended their winning streak to six games by rallying for six runs in the ninth after being blanked on three hits by rookie Don Wilson over the first eight innings.

Johnny Callison's leadoff double ignited the rally and Johnny Briggs' three-run homer off reliever Carroll Sembera finished the Astros.

Tribe Trades Gary Bell To Red Sox For 2

CLEVELAND (AP) — The surprising Boston Red Sox, picked in most preseason baseball forecasts for an eighth or ninth-place finish, talked pennant today after acquiring veteran right-hander Gary Bell from the Cleveland Indians.

General Manager Dick O'Connell and Manager Dick Williams, swept up by the players' enthusiasm and determination, agreed with unusual optimism that Bell could make the Red Sox a top contender in the American League race.

"This is one of those years when it looks like the pennant is up for grabs," O'Connell said. "I think we can win it. We've bolstered our starting pitching with experience and ability."

Williams, a 38-year-old former major league utility player with a hard nose and iron fist in his first season as Boston manager, admitted he was "overjoyed" by the trade announced Sunday minutes after the Red Sox dropped a 3-0 decision to the Indians.

"Our guys have felt all along we have a chance to win it all and I think this will give us a good shot at it," Williams said.

The Red Sox went after Bell after obtaining reserve infielder Jerry Adair from the Chicago White Sox for veteran relief pitcher Don McMahon and a minor league hurler Friday night.

The deal with the Indians was swung at the risk of weakening the Boston bench. The Red Sox gave up two right-handed sluggers, first baseman Tony Horton and outfielder Don Demeter, to get Bell.

Despite a 1-5 record, including a pair of losses to the Red Sox this season, the 29-year-old Bell boasts a 96-92 mark since joining the Indians in 1958.

Jerry Coleman, former New York Yankee second baseman, is the commissioner of the Atlantic Collegiate Baseball League. He also is a Yankee broadcaster.

Myler's 2-Hitter Gives Legion Win

Jack Myler hurled a two-hit shutout and received ample hitting support especially from John Stoddard and Emery Brewer in Post 374's 9-0 victory over Columbiana Sunday at Colt Field.

The local Legion nine took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, added three more runs in the third, three in the fifth and two in the sixth.

Stoddard clouted a home run over the left centerfield fence, added two other singles and scored twice.

Brewer pounded out two long triples in three trips to the plate.

Myler only walked two and struck out eight batters as he was in control all the way. He gave up a hit in the second inning and one in the sixth.

Post 374 collected a total of eight hits off two Columbiana pitchers. Coseno was the losing hurler.

Manager Paul Gill's squad plays today at Lordstown at 6 p. m.

On Friday, the Red Sox edged the Mets, 8-7, with Richard Householder blasting a three-run homer for the winners. Householder banged out another round-tripper on May 29.

Gene Furbee was the winning pitcher and Myron Jones the loser.

In other action, the Hammondsville Yankees defeated the No. 16 Tigers, 8-5, and the Highlandtown Apaches, 12-11. Jim Coleman was the winning pitcher against No. 16 and Terry Allison the loser.

Jess Miller was the winner and Danny Talbott the loser in the 12-11 slugfest.

Bill Allen homered in the Indians' 16-9 victory over the Chiefs.

Matt Diehl was the winner and Marty Dangelo the loser.

Second-half play was to open today.

While the Red Sox already have captured first-half honors, some games remain to be played. League officials said it is hoped to have all completed by Thursday.

Tigers Regain Lead; Hargan Blanks Boston

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Andy Etchebarren, unable to bunt, summoned enough energy to launch the high-flying Baltimore Orioles into the air, taking along a couple of patient young baseball fans who must have been flying even higher.

Etchebarren, after failing to bunt twice, cracked a two-run home run in the 19th inning that lifted the Orioles over Washington 7-5, Sunday, ending the longest game of the baseball season.

Beside bringing the Orioles their 14th triumph in 20 games, it sent them winging toward Friendship Airport, where two boys, about 15 years old, had waited through the marathon to fly with the players on a trip of a lifetime for a youngster.

Dick McAuliffe did not wait as long to send the Detroit Tigers back into first place in the American League as he blasted a grand slam homer in the 13th inning for an 11-7 victory over the New York Yankees in the nightcap of their twinbill. New York won the opener 2-0.

Burbick's, Sevy's Post Decisions In Pony Loop

Burbick's handed Woodbine its first setback of the season and moved into a tie for first place with a 3-2 victory Saturday in the Pony League.

In another contest, Sevy's handed Litten's a 10-6 defeat. Whittaker, who was the winning pitcher, going six innings for Burbick's, also was the hitting star with a three - for - three night, including a two run homer in the fourth inning which provided the winning margin.

Whittaker also doubled and singled for the winners. On the mound, he allowed only five hits before leaving in the sixth as Tipton took over and retired the side in order.

After each team scored a run in the first inning, Woodbine went in front 2-1 in the second frame before Whittaker's blast turned the tide. Lockhart was checked with the loss. Randy McVay led the losers with two doubles.

The hitting of Lockhart, Plant and Watson paced Sevy's victory. Lockhart went three for three and drove in four of its team's runs. Plant belted a home run and Watson collected a triple and single while driving in two runs.

A four - run fourth inning for Sevy's broke a 3-3 tie.

John Cunningham was the winning pitcher while Horger was checked with the loss.

Lawyers, Seiferths Win Colt League Twin Bills

Lawyers and Seiferth's swept doubleheaders over the weekend while Riverview posted a shutout in a single game in Colt League action.

The league-leading Lawyers topped Central Service, 7-6 and 8-5, at the Colt Field Saturday and Seiferth's topped Maxims, 3-1 and 4-3, at Salem.

Jim Massey hurled the Florists to an 8-0 shutout over Maxims at the Colt Field.

Walker and Christian were the winning pitchers for the Lawyers as Sims and Doughty took the losses. Murray had three hits for the Lawyers in the first game and Kemple and Haney each had two. Sims hit safely twice for Central. March connected twice in the second game for the Lawyers.

Lovejoy and Myers picked up the victories for Seiferth's as Ciotti and Cramer took the setbacks. Myers helped his own cause with a homer as Lovejoy spun a one-hitter.

Hill Wins In Memphis Open Tourney By Two

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — His lead in the Memphis Open Golf Tournament dwindling, Dave Hill remembered four years ago at the Hot Springs Open when he overheard someone in the gallery remark: "Hill's folding up."

He didn't fold then, and he mustered enough courage and shook off the butterflies Sunday to win the $100,000 Memphis Open and the biggest check of his 10-year career—$20,000.

Through the first three rounds here, Hill steadily increased his lead to five strokes but began to skid Sunday when Johnny Pott made a dramatic surge on the last 10 holes.

Pott, playing one group in front of Hill, narrowed the gap to three strokes by the time he reached the 18th tee.

Hill knew Pott was gaining, so he buckled down on 17 after suffering four bogeys and a double bogey. He drove the 17th green in one and got his par-3.

On the last hole, he put his second shot into a sand trap, blasted out and two putts gave him a par and the championship.

He finished at eight under par 272 and Pott at 274.

"I think the toughest thing in the world is to lead a tournament when everybody is expecting you to fall flat on your face," he said.

"Unless you're an Arnold Palmer or a Gary Player, they expect you to fall . . . and I was heading in that direction."

Hill said he had fever blisters, a shaky stomach and a string of sleepless nights to prove it's a nerve shattering experience to lead all the way.

Before leaving here for the Buick Open this week at Flint, Mich., he planned to shoot a U.S. Open qualifying round here today.

Behind second-place Pott, who collected $12,000, were Harold Henning at 275, and Randy Glover and Dan Sikes at 276.

Vince Lombardi, coach of the Green Bay Packers, coached the West Point line and backfield for six years under Earl (Red) Blaik.

Parsons Defeat Burbick's, 15-1, In LL Contest

Mark McGeehan hurled a two-hitter and drew heavy support from his teammates as Parsons defeated Burbick's, 15-1, in a Little League game Saturday.

The winners scored in every inning but the third. Yanni, Samples, Jones and V. McGeehan led the hitting attack with two each.

Only Jones and Brown hit safely for Burbick's.

Dickson Snares British Amateur

LONDON (AP) — Bob Dickson, winner of the British Amateur Golf Championship, exchanges his clubs today for an Army rifle.

And if he shoots with the rifle as well as he shoots golf, the enemy had better look out.

Dickson, a 23-year-old 6-foot-3 Oklahoma State University graduate, turned in a world class performance in beating Ron Cerrudo 2 and 1 in Saturday's 36-hole final over England's Formy Links.

Dickson comes from Muskogee, Okla., and Cerrudo from San Rafael, Calif.

U.S. Cage Team Joins Russia In World's Finals

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — The United States joined Russia in a tie for the lead in the finals of the World Basketball Championships with an 88-53 victory over Uruguay Sunday night.

It was the second victory in as many starts for the Americans, and left them with four games to go in their quest for world title.

The margin was 36-26 by halftime and the U.S. players took it going away.

The U.S. victory, following Yugoslavia's 82-78 triumph over Poland in the night's opening game, left three of the round-robin tournament co-favorites undefeated. Only Brazil, which lost to the Soviet Union, has failed to come through. However, Brazil also is the only one of the four which has had to face one of the other co-favorites.

Burbick's, Sevy's Post Decisions In Pony Loop

Burbick's handed Woodbine its first setback of the season and moved into a tie for first place with a 3-2 victory Saturday in the Pony League.

In another contest, Sevy's handed Litten's a 10-6 defeat. Whittaker, who was the winning pitcher, going six innings for Burbick's, also was the hitting star with a three - for - three night, including a two run homer in the fourth inning which provided the winning margin.

Whittaker also doubled and singled for the winners. On the mound, he allowed only five hits before leaving in the sixth as Tipton took over and retired the side in order.

After each team scored a run in the first inning, Woodbine went in front 2-1 in the second frame before Whittaker's blast turned the tide. Lockhart was checked with the loss. Randy McVay led the losers with two doubles.

The hitting of Lockhart, Plant and Watson paced Sevy's victory. Lockhart went three for three and drove in four of its team's runs. Plant belted a home run and Watson collected a triple and single while driving in two runs.

A four - run fourth inning for Sevy's broke a 3-3 tie.

John Cunningham was the winning pitcher while Horger was checked with the loss.

A diving catch by leftfielder George Hall stopped a Litten's rally in the fifth inning.

Lawyers, Seiferths Win Colt League Twin Bills

Lawyers and Seiferth's swept doubleheaders over the weekend while Riverview posted a shutout in a single game in Colt League action.

The league-leading Lawyers topped Central Service, 7-6 and 8-5, at the Colt Field Saturday and Seiferth's topped Maxims, 3-1 and 4-3, at Salem.

Jim Massey hurled the Florists to an 8-0 shutout over Maxims at the Colt Field.

Walker and Christian were the winning pitchers for the Lawyers as Sims and Doughty took the losses. Murray had three hits for the Lawyers in the first game and Kemple and Haney each had two. Sims hit safely twice for Central. March connected twice in the second game for the Lawyers.

Lovejoy and Myers picked up the victories for Seiferth's as Ciotti and Cramer took the setbacks. Myers helped his own cause with a homer as Lovejoy spun a one-hitter.

Hill Wins In Memphis Open Tourney By Two

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — His lead in the Memphis Open Golf Tournament dwindling, Dave Hill remembered four years ago at the Hot Springs Open when he overheard someone in the gallery remark: "Hill's folding up."

He didn't fold then, and he mustered enough courage and shook off the butterflies Sunday to win the $100,000 Memphis Open and the biggest check of his 10-year career—$20,000.

Through the first three rounds here, Hill steadily increased his lead to five strokes but began to skid Sunday when Johnny Pott made a dramatic surge on the last 10 holes.

Pott, playing one group in front of Hill, narrowed the gap to three strokes by the time he reached the 18th tee.

Hill knew Pott was gaining, so he buckled down on 17 after suffering four bogeys and a double bogey. He drove the 17th green in one and got his par-3.

On the last hole, he put his second shot into a sand trap, blasted out and two putts gave him a par and the championship.

He finished at eight under par 272 and Pott at 274.

"I think the toughest thing in the world is to lead a tournament when everybody is expecting you to fall flat on your face," he said.

"Unless you're an Arnold Palmer or a Gary Player, they expect you to fall . . . and I was heading in that direction."

Hill said he had fever blisters, a shaky stomach and a string of sleepless nights to prove it's a nerve shattering experience to lead all the way.

Before leaving here for the Buick Open this week at Flint, Mich., he planned to shoot a U.S. Open qualifying round here today.

Behind second-place Pott, who collected $12,000, were Harold Henning at 275, and Randy Glover and Dan Sikes at 276.

Vince Lombardi, coach of the Green Bay Packers, coached the West Point line and backfield for six years under Earl (Red) Blaik.

Parsons Defeat Burbick's, 15-1, In LL Contest

Mark McGeehan hurled a two-hitter and drew heavy support from his teammates as Parsons defeated Burbick's, 15-1, in a Little League game Saturday.

The winners scored in every inning but the third. Yanni, Samples, Jones and V. McGeehan led the hitting attack with two each.

Only Jones and Brown hit safely for Burbick's.

Dickson Snares British Amateur

LONDON (AP) — Bob Dickson, winner of the British Amateur Golf Championship, exchanges his clubs today for an Army rifle.

And if he shoots with the rifle as well as he shoots golf, the enemy had better look out.

Dickson, a 23-year-old 6-foot-3 Oklahoma State University graduate, turned in a world class performance in beating Ron Cerrudo 2 and 1 in Saturday's 36-hole final over England's Formy Links.

Dickson comes from Muskogee, Okla., and Cerrudo from San Rafael, Calif.

U.S. Cage Team Joins Russia In World's Finals

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — The United States joined Russia in a tie for the lead in the finals of the World Basketball Championships with an 88-53 victory over Uruguay Sunday night.

It was the second victory in as many starts for the Americans, and left them with four games to go in their quest for world title.

The margin was 36-26 by halftime and the U.S. players took it going away.

The U.S. victory, following Yugoslavia's 82-78 triumph over Poland in the night's opening game, left three of the round-robin tournament co-favorites undefeated. Only Brazil, which lost to the Soviet Union, has failed to come through. However, Brazil also is the only one of the four which has had to face one of the other co-favorites.

Suggestions Are Given For 'Hiding' Of Edges

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The emergence of plywood some years ago as a do-it-yourself material created a problem for those who objected to the appearance of the edges in projects where such edges would be visible.

Various methods were devised to hide the seamed effect of the bonding of thin sheets of wood under pressure.

IF YOU are making a table or some other plywood object in which the edges will be visible, what, if anything, should you do about these edges?

The answer is easy: whatever you wish. It's an excellent area for experimentation, enabling you to come up with something a little different if you are inclined that way. The hobbyist, who works with wood for the sheer joy of it, can spend many enjoyable hours trying different methods of covering, disguising or accenting plywood edges.

One of the simplest ways of hiding the edges is to glue onto them thin splines of lumber, which can be either butted or mitered at the ends. These splines can be finished in the same way as the full plywood surface or they can be treated with a contrasting color, achieved with either paint or stain.

An especially effective contrast, for example, is walnut-stained edging around a table top made of birch-faced plywood.

Ready-made edging is available in the form of what is called plywood tape.

It's actually a very thin veneer that comes rolled up in a small plastic container. It can be cut with a shears or knife and is applied in much the same way as splines of stock lumber.

If regular wood is used, some method of holding the veneer in place must be used. If contact adhesive is used, no clamping is necessary, but extra care must be taken in positioning the veneer.

HALF - ROUND moulding, which has a flat side and a round side, can also be effectively attached to plywood edges, as can many other types of moldings. Metal channeling and laminated plastic are other possibilities, with the metal coverings especially popular in the kitchen.

The edges of plywood take on an interesting effect when scorched, either by the use of a power sanding disc held tightly against the wood to create intense friction or a butane torch moved back and forth in a careful manner.

However, both of these methods require a certain amount of skill developed by experience and are not recommended until practiced often on scrap wood.

Those who have table saws or other suitable power tools can use beveling to good advantage.

Putting bevels on the edges of a plywood table top, for instance, lends an attractive decorative touch that makes unnecessary any other finish except a clear sealer to prevent the entrance of moisture.

Ohio Man Drowns In Fall Into Lake

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Paul E. Hedges, 59, drowned Sunday when he fell from a boat into a small lake just south of here, Fairfield County Sheriff Jack Blazer reported.

Blazer said Hedges, of Lancaster, and a companion were frog hunting at the time of the accident. The body was recovered.

Tips Given On Making Of Outdoor Furniture

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

You can make your own chairs, tables and couches if you have the ability to cut strips of light wood to certain dimensions and nail them together.

The couch or lounge is probably the easiest to make. Two pieces of 1-by-4 wood strip are cut to a length of six feet and joined at the ends by two pieces 2 feet long, making a plain box 6-by-2 feet.

Eight pieces are cut 10 inches long and assembled in sets of two to furnish the legs. These are set inside the box at the corners and nailed solidly in place. Two 16-inch pieces are cut at an angle to furnish a headrest. The entire top of the couch is covered with strips, leaving a one - inch space between. The angle of the headrest is optional.

Armchairs are easily made also. The best procedure is to start with the two front legs, 20 inches high, and nail the brace across the front of them at the desired seat height. This is usually 13 inches.

Next, the sloping pieces are fastened inside the legs running from the back of the brace to the ground level. A 32-inch length gives a nice slope to the chair, but you can arrange for more slope or a straighter back by lengthening or shortening this dimension. Strips are nailed across the sloping members to furnish the seat, which is 20 inches wide.

As you go along with job, you will see the strength of the pieces and note how the various members knit into a solid unit.

Tables are quite simple to construct. A square box is built, the four legs are set inside the corners and strips laid across the top with half - inch spacing. Tables vary in size. Just make sure that if the table is more than two feet high, braces are run between the legs. Low pieces are usually more comfortable and better looking.

Two - inch galvanized nails should be used. All sawed ends should be sanded off before painting. Square ends may be rounded off, and then you can use any type of finishing you desire. Good outside white paint will be found more satisfactory than enamel, and two coats is enough.

Tiles' Adhesive Depends On Type

AP Newsfeatures

Question: Please help us to settle a family argument. We are having our kitchen remodeled by a professional contractor, but hope to save money by doing some of the work ourselves.

One of the jobs we think we can handle is putting down floor tiles, the 9-inch-by-9-inch resilient kind.

One of my brothers says that, after the adhesive is spread on the floor, it must be allowed to dry before the tiles are installed.

Another says this isn't so — that the tiles must be laid as soon as the adhesive has been spread. Since I am the one who probably will be doing the work, I'd like a clarification. Can you help?

ANSWER: It depends on what kind of tile will be used. The type of adhesive used with asphalt and vinyl asbestos tile looks something like tar.

This adhesive must be allowed to set until it is dry to the touch before any tiles are placed on it. Ordinary asphalt tile is not especially recommended for kitchens, since it is not resistant to grease. Vinyl asbestos tile can be used anywhere in the house.

If some other kind of resilient tile is being used, then the proper adhesive is spread immediately before the tile is laid.

In fact, to be sure that the adeshive does not dry, you can do only a small portion of the floor at one time — no more than an area which can be covered by from eight to 10 tiles. Thus, you put down the adhesive for such an area, lay the tiles, spread more adhesive, lay more tiles, and so on.

New and better adhesives are being developed all the time. Therefore, no matter what anyone tells you, the proper procedure is to select the kind of tiles you want, tell the dealer where they are being used, ask him to give you the proper adhesive — and then read and follow the directions on the container.

Brush, Roller, Spray All Have Their Place

From the time paint was first developed its perennial partner has been the paint brush. However, now the do-it-yourselfer has a choice of painting tools to help simplify and speed up his job.

Besides the wide range of brushes available, he may choose from various roller models or from the handy sprays. Many jobs can be completed with the use of any one of the three types, whereas some surfaces will be obviously better suited for one particular method of application.

The following tips from the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association of Washington, D.C., will help in selecting the right brush, roller, or spray equipment for your next painting project.

BRUSHES: Regardless of the type or size, quality brushes will last longer, hold more paint, and give a smoother coat than cheaper ones.

Select the size and style brush according to the surface and type paint with which you will be working. When applying water-based paint to a large surface, use a calsomine brush with very long, tough and elastic gray hog bristles. For applying oil-base paints and lacquers, you should use enamel and varnish brushes — flat or chisel shaped. Brush sizes range in width and thickness from large wall brushes to fine artist's brushes.

Rollers: Paint rollers have become widely popular with both the professional and do-it-yourself painters. Although rollers are available for use in corners, on fences, and for irregular surfaces, they are especially helpful in cutting down on time spent painting large, flat areas (walls, ceilings, floors, etc.). Rollers are available in various sizes and with handles of different lengths. An extension on the roller handle may eliminate the need for a ladder when you paint a ceiling — or let you avoid stooping to paint the floor.

The best size roller for walls and ceilings is the seven- or nine-inch model, while the three-inch model is best for finishing woodwork, doors and trim. The fabric on the roller cover should conform with the type of paint to be applied. Check the label of the roller cover. Lambswool rollers are excellent with oil-based paints, but they should not be used with water-thinned latex paints. Mohair rollers can be used with any type interior flat paint but are recommended especially for applying enamel and wherever a smooth finish is desired.

Rollers made from synthetic fibers can be used with all types of flat paint, inside and out. A handy rule to remember is the smoother the surface you are painting, the shorter the roller's nap should be; the rougher the surface, the longer the nap.

SPRAYS: Keeping up with the times, paint also has reached the "Pushbutton Age." Spray paint equipment ranges from the large pressure types fed by air compressors to the attachments available with most vacuum cleaners to the small aerosol cans. The small spray cans are the quickest, handiest method of all for coating small items.

Aerosol sprays when used correctly leave no lap marks or signs of streaking — and they cut clean-up time to a minimum. Another advantage of spray - painting is that these applicators make it easy to coat hard-to-reach places and to apply a uniform finish on rattan furniture or intricately carved wood.

For most larger household painting projects, the suction feed spray equipment on your vacuum cleaner is satisfactory. Before deciding to spray paint, be sure to consider whether the time gained will be consumed in the extra work of masking windows and covering surrounding areas. Articles that can be placed in an open space while painting are the most ideally suited for spray application.

Easy Motor Maintenance Can Slash Repair Costs

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The sound of the suburbs is no longer the chirp of crickets but the noise of small engines running power mowers, roto tillers, power - driven lawn sweepers, snow blowers and plows.

Simple maintenance of two- and four - cycle engines will save you time and unnecessary repair charges. When yours will not start, there are several things to check before turning over the equipment to a repairman.

First the fuel. The four-cycle engine runs on gasoline alone. The two - cycle uses a mixture of gasoline and oil.

—:—

CHECK THE fuel tank. It may be dry. Make certain you are using the fuel the manufacturer recommended. While most use ordinary gasoline, some call for white or unleaded gasoline. Follow the instructions for the right oil-gasoline mix for two-cycle engines. Most require one-half pint of SAE 30 oil to one gallon of gasoline.

While there are many things that may go wrong, most engine failures are in the fuel system or the ignition system.

Even if you have enough fuel, the engine may not be getting any. Most engines have a fuel shutoff valve. Make certain it is open.

The cap of the fuel tank is a tiny vent hole. Make certain it is clean and open.

Dirt in the fuel may be causing trouble. On most models, you can drain the tank completely by removing the fuel line shutoff valve and then removing the tank by unscrewing several retaining screws. With the tank off, rinse it with fresh, clean gasoline. Work in a well - vented area, away from flame or sparks.

Small engine carburetors need adjusting just as do the ones on automobiles. Look for the needle valve on the carburetor. Check the parts list with your engine if you are not sure. Close it fully, then open it 1½ turns.

—:—

START THE engine and let it warm up. Then slowly close the needle valve until the engine starts to lose speed.

Open it again until it starts to run unevenly. You will have to strike a balance between these two points for the engine to run smoothly.

Manufacturers recommend cleaning and re-oiling the air filter every 25 miles of operation. Kick up some dirt with your mower and you will have to do it sooner. Rinse the sponge element in kerosene, squeeze it out and re - oil it.

Ignition trouble can be more complicated, but there are some steps you can take. Unscrew the spark plug and clean it.

Reset the electrode cap if needed. Spark plugs are cheap, and you only use one, so replace if in doubt. If the electrode is dry when you pull the plug, fuel is not reaching the engine. Take the engine to a repair man.

Other maintenance tips: check oil frequently; make certain nuts, bolts and screws are tight; keep equipment clean; remove grass clippings from mowers.

Suggestions Are Given For 'Hiding' Of Edges

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

The emergence of plywood some years ago as a do-it-yourself material created a problem for those who objected to the appearance of the edges in projects where such edges would be visible.

Various methods were devised to hide the seamed effect of the bonding of thin sheets of wood under pressure.

But some imaginative craftsmen created a trend towards untreated edges or, at the very least, an embellishment of the edges without actually hiding the seams.

IF YOU are making a table or some other plywood object in which the edges will be visible, what, if anything, should you do about these edges?

The answer is easy: whatever you wish. It's an excellent area for experimentation, enabling you to come up with something a little different if you are inclined that way. The hobbyist, who works with wood for the sheer joy of it, can spend many enjoyable hours trying different methods of covering, disguising or accenting plywood edges.

One of the simplest ways of hiding the edges is to glue onto them thin splines of lumber, which can be either butted or mitered at the ends. These splines can be finished in the same way as the full plywood surface or they can be treated with a contrasting color, achieved with either paint or stain.

An especially effective contrast, for example, is walnut-stained edging around a table top made of birch-faced plywood.

Ready-made edging is available in the form of what is called plywood tape.

It's actually a very thin veneer that comes rolled up in a small plastic container. It can be cut with a shears or knife and is applied in much the same way as splines of stock lumber.

If regular wood is used, some method of holding the veneer in place must be used. If contact adhesive is used, no clamping is necessary, but extra care must be taken in positioning the veneer.

—:—

HALF - ROUND moulding, which has a flat side and a round side, can also be effectively attached to plywood edges, as can many other types of moldings. Metal channeling and laminated plastic are other possibilities, with the metal coverings especially popular in the kitchen.

The edges of plywood take on an interesting effect when scorched, either by the use of a power sanding disc held tightly against the wood to create intense friction or a butane torch moved back and forth in a careful manner.

However, both of these methods require a certain amount of skill developed by experience and are not recommended until practiced often on scrap wood.

Those who have table saws or other suitable power tools can use beveling to good advantage.

Putting bevels on the edges of a plywood table top, for instance, lends an attractive decorative touch that makes unnecessary any other finish except a clear sealer to prevent the entrance of moisture.

Tips Offered On Jack's Use If Floor Sags

By The Associated Press

Question: There appears to be a tiny sag in the dining room floor of our old house. . .hardly noticeable unless you look for it. It has been suggested that the floor can be jacked up with a special type of jack used for floor beams. The dining room is directly over our basement which has a concrete floor. Is it something I can do myself?

ANSWER: A sagging floor generally is caused by a sagging beam. If the condition were severe, we would recommend that a professional be called in. If it is slight, you can handle it yourself. The value of the jack-post or lolly column (it is known by both names) is that it not only corrects the sag, it serves to prevent future trouble should there be a tendency for the beam to drop any farther.

A jack-post can be purchased at most building supply dealers and lumber yards and at some well-stocked hardware stores. It is inserted under the sagging beam, with the bottom resting securely on the concrete floor, and adjusted so that it fits firmly between the two. The secret of lifting the sagging beam without causing any structural damage is to do the raising about a quarter-of-an-inch at a time.

Thus, on the first day, using the screw arrangement on the jack - post, raise the floor only a quarter-of-an-inch. Wait a full day, then raise it the same amount—and so on, until the floor is level, always keeping in mind the necessity of making only a small adjustment every 24 hours. Of course, you will need a large level to determine when the sag has been eliminated, so that you do not overcorrect the condition.

QUESTION How can I get a spatter finish on the floor of my young son's room?

Answer: First paint the floor the desired background color. Let it dry about two days. Select a contrasting color and, with a wet paint brush and a piece of wood, metal or some other object, go to work.

Strike the brush against the stick, so that the paint spatters on the floor. The brush and stick should be held about 15 inches above the floor during the operation.

Steel Stocks Are Trimmed

CLEVELAND (AP)—"The expected housecleaning in steel inventories took a firm hold in the last three months," Steel Magazine said today, reporting on a survey of metalworking industry buyers.

"Users trimmed stocks of all major categories of mill products, and they'll continue to do so in the June-August period," the trade publication reported.

Summarizing comments of the buyers, Steel said inventories "are still generally rated as 'too high' " and sales "are still on a plateau." Another factor cited by buyers was that deliveries from steel plants have been improving significantly.

"In the last three months, inventories were cut by more firms than expected—probably because sales did not live up to their expectations," Steel said. "For the next three months, the forecast suggests the same degree of inventory cutting. However, while the same proportion of firms may be trimming stocks, there's a good chance the reductions will be more modest."

Steel production was estimated at 2,385,000 tons in the week ended June 3, and the metalworking weekly said production is expected to hold fairly steady the next couple of weeks, "sliding off toward the end of June."

Steel's composite price on top grade steelmaking scrap rose 42 cents a ton to $26.67 last week.

Here Are Hints To Keep Lawns Looking Sharper

The individual who takes care of his own grounds, and takes pride in having a neat and smart - looking place, may know all the tricks for making the work easy and accomplishing the most over the weekend. But many amateur groundskeepers or gardeners don't know the best way to do things.

Cutting the lawn is undoubtedly the greatest chore of all. It is a fact that two men using the same type of lawn mower and spending the same amount of time on the job can produce two entirely different results. One lawn will be velvet smooth and the other rough, and showing the swatches left by the mowing.

The answer is that one man knew enough to mow the lawn crosswise in line with the front of the house and the other man cut the lawn up and down or from the street line to the house. The lawn that is cut across from side to side of the property will look even and smooth, while the lawn cut from sidewalk or road toward the house will show the path of the lawn mower. If you have the slightest doubt, try both ways and decide for yourself.

Another definite aid to a smart, well - kept place is the circling of trees or shrubs which are set out on the lawn. The amateur groundskeeper will mow as closely as possible to a tree or shrub and then need to get on hands and knees with a pair of snips and trim the grass beneath the tree. If a circle is dug out on the lawn around the shrub and the exposed earth kept neatly raked, the ornamental piece will stand out nicely and the entire lawn will look better.

Cutting an accurate circle is very simple. A string is looped around the trunk of the tree or shrub and a stick or clothes pin attached to the end. This is then swung around in a circle so that a line is scratched in the sod. This is cut down with a turf edger or spade and the sod lifted out of the circle.

Simple and practical methods such as these make for better jobs and a minimum of labor. The more of them you can learn, the better.

Coincidence Marks Collision Of Cars

SKARA, Sweden (AP) — Two Swedish drivers collided near here and found: Both cars were the same make, built in the same year.

Both were red and had been purchased from the same car dealer.

Both drivers were the same age, worked in the same factory and lived in the same town, Haellekis.

Both drivers were uninjured and each car suffered the same damage — both fenders were buckled and both headlights were smashed.

And finally both cars were insured in the same firm.

Overcome by all these likenesses, the drivers adjourned for a coffee, had a good talk and decided they might as well be good friends, too.

Palestine Youth Hurt Diving Into Swim Pool

EAST PALESTINE — A 16-year - old city youth was injured Sunday afternoon at the City Park Pool when he dove into five feet of water and struck concrete.

Ted Reeves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Reeves of R. D. 1, was treated by a city physician and taken to Salem City Hospital for X-rays of the head. He suffered a laceration of the scalp.

Despite its great bulk, the whale can leap completely out of the water.

Thieves Loot Car, 2 Homes

A parked auto and two homes were looted in three cases of petty thievery over the weekend, police reported.

Mrs. Velma Varsho of 107 E. 6th St. said property worth $20 to $25 was stolen from her auto Saturday night about 7:30 while it was parked on a lot at the Loblaw, Inc., Market on Dresden Ave. Mrs. Varsho said she was in the food market about 25 minutes and when she returned she found the thieves had taken a woman's sweater worth $9.98; a slip worth $5; four packages of cigarets; a six-pack of beer and two model car kits. The car was not locked, she said.

John Jones of 102 W. 2nd St. told police Saturday night at 8:40 a thief entered his home sometime during the day and stole a $10 bill from his wife's purse on a dresser in a bedroom. The house was not locked, he said.

Emery Dexter of 276 Drain St. reported to police Sunday morning a thief entered his home while he was absent between 4 p. m. Saturday and 2:45 a. m. yesterday. The intruder entered through a screen door at the rear tof the home. A bread box and dresser drawers were ransacked, but it was not determined immediately if anything was missing, officers said.

Patrolman Samuel E. Hayes discovered Sunday morning about 8 that coin boxes had been ripped off three automatic washers in the State St. Laundromat on State St. Hayes said he was on routine cruiser patrol in East End when a man reported the incident to him. He said he discovered the coin boxes had been ripped off and carried away.

One case of vandalism also was reported. Vincent Baker of 108 W. 2nd St. told police some boys at play threw a ball which cracked two 24-x-24-inch window panes in his second floor apartment. The property is owned by Sara Simons also of 108 W. 2nd St., officers said.

Tips Offered On Jack's Use If Floor Sags

By The Associated Press

Question: There appears to be a tiny sag in the dining room floor of our old house. . .hardly noticeable unless you look for it. It has been suggested that the floor can be jacked up with a special type of jack used for floor beams. The dining room is directly over our basement which has a concrete floor. Is it something I can do myself?

ANSWER: A sagging floor generally is caused by a sagging beam. If the condition were severe, we would recommend that a professional be called in. If it is slight, you can handle it yourself. The value of the jack-post or lolly column (it is known by both names) is that it not only corrects the sag, it serves to prevent future trouble should there be a tendency for the beam to drop any farther.

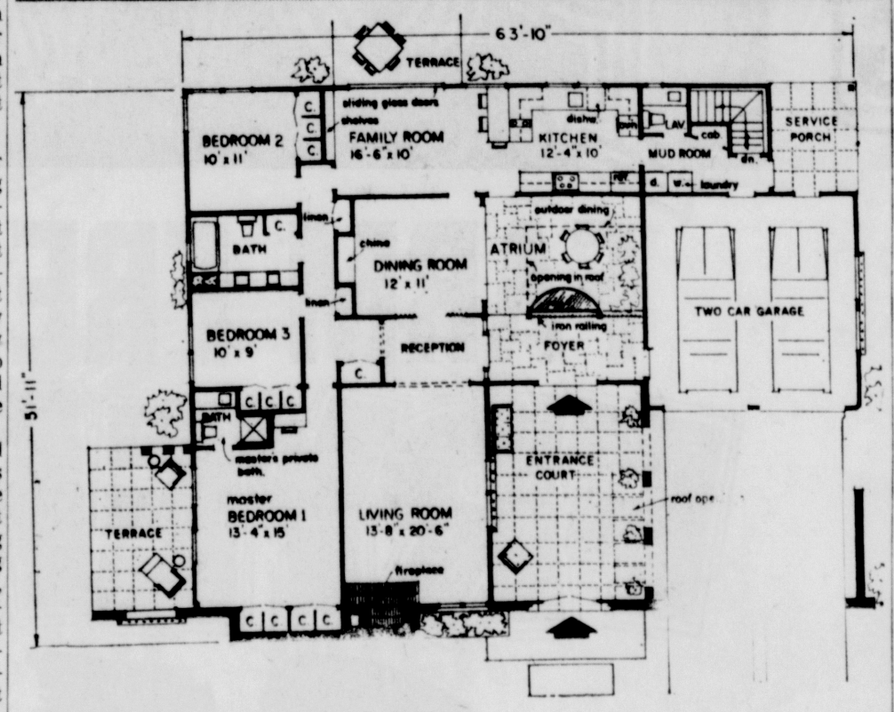
A jack-post can be purchased at most building supply dealers and lumber yards and at some well-stocked hardware stores. It is inserted under the sagging beam, with the bottom resting securely on the concrete floor, and adjusted so that it fits firmly between the two. The secret of lifting the sagging beam without causing any structural damage is to do the raising about a quarter-of-an-inch at a time.

Thus, on the first day, using the screw arrangement on the jack - post, raise the floor only a quarter-of-an-inch. Wait a full day, then raise it the same amount—and so on, until the floor is level, always keeping in mind the necessity of making only a small adjustment every 24 hours. Of course, you will need a large level to determine when the sag has been eliminated, so that you do not overcorrect the condition.

QUESTION How can I get a spatter finish on the floor of my young son's room?

Answer: First paint the floor the desired background color. Let it dry' about two days. Select a contrasting color and, with a wet paint brush and a piece of wood, metal or some other object, go to work.

Strike the brush against the stick, so that the paint spatters on the floor. The brush and stick should be held about 15 inches above the floor during the operation.



SPANISH TRADITIONAL house has living interest at every turn. A high, angle-headed window reaches the roof. Circle-head entrance doors of heavy wood lead to the 14 by 20 private court. The court is roofed but has open rafters along the arched wall at right. Another set of double doors enters the atrium which has a roof opening for light, a reflecting pool and wrought iron grill. A left turn leads into the reception hall which gives into the slanted-ceiling living room, dining room and bedroom hall. The dining room wall facing the atrium is glass sliding doors, for view and access. The service area is efficient with covered porch, two entrances to the garage, stair to the basement, lavatory, laundry and corner closet. Architect for HA498M is Rudolph Matern, 89 E. Steel Stocks Are Trimmed

CLEVELAND (AP)—"The expected housecleaning in steel inventories took a firm hold in the last three months," Steel Magazine said today, reporting on a survey of metalworking industry buyers.

"Users trimmed stocks of all major categories of mill products, and they'll continue to do so in the June-August period," the trade publication reported.

Summarizing comments of the buyers, Steel said inventories "are still generally rated as 'too high' " and sales "are still on a plateau." Another factor cited by buyers was that deliveries from steel plants have been improving significantly.

"In the last three months, inventories were cut by more firms than expected—probably because sales did not live up to their expectations," Steel said. "For the next three months, the forecast suggests the same degree of inventory cutting. However, while the same proportion of firms may be trimming stocks, there's a good chance the reductions will be more modest."

Steel production was estimated at 2,385,000 tons in the week ended June 3, and the metalworking weekly said production is expected to hold fairly steady the next couple of weeks, "sliding off toward the end of June."

Steel's composite price on top grade steelmaking scrap rose 42 cents a ton to $26.67 last week.

Trustees Get Road Reports

SUMMITVILLE — George McPherson, president, made several announcements concerning township roads when the Franklin Township trustees met Saturday.

He reported that seven miles of township roads have been oiled through the summer program. Winter damage to roads also is being repaired, he added.

Dirt roads in the township will be oiled in front of residents' homes after they are scraped.

New complaints of excess oil on roads conditioned by the county were received and trustees agreed to spread slag at these areas to alleviate the problem.

Constable Forrest Young, in his report for May, said he patrolled 390 miles, made 18 phone calls, towed one auto with illegal registration, investigated two breaking and enterings, issued three permits for shooting rats at the dump and returned two dogs to their owners.

Bills totaling $1,000 were approved for payment.

The next meeting will be June 17.

23 Are Arrested In 'Crackdown'

West Virginia state police made 23 arrests over the weekend in a traffic crackdown.

Of those arrested, seven were charged with speeding, three with reckless driving and 13 with miscellaneous charges.

Among those arrested were Clark N. Gaston, 18, of Canton, who posted an $87 bond for an appearance Saturday before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland. Gaston was arrested on Route 66 at 3:30 a.m. Sunday and charged with driving at a speed of about 100 miles an hour, officers said.

Also fined was William R. Fowler, 33, of Elkview, W. Va., who paid $10 and costs on a charge of speeding.

Ambulance Firms Set Proposals In Writing

Four firms which have expressed interest in providing contract ambulance service for East Liverpool are scheduled to file detailed proposals in writing within the next few days, Mayor George Willshaw said today.

Filing of the plans will clear the way for further study by Council and the administration, which are seeking a substitute for the service which district funeral home will discontinue July 15.

The mayor and Council conferred with the four applicants Friday night and agreed to meet again to continue the discussion.

Four Departments Take Part

Shed Goes Up In Smoke At Drill

Some of the 60 firemen who participated in a fire school at Chester Sunday are shown controlling the blaze at the shed of the former Chester Lumber Co. on Route 66.

Four departments, Chester, Newell, Lawrenceville and Oakland, participated under the direction of East Liverpool Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne, who supervised the burning of the main brick building and the shed.

The school, sponsored by the Hancock County Firefighters Association, got under way at 9 a. m., with smoke classes, training in hose laying and pump instruction.

The main building was burned about 10. So hot was the blaze, that a house across the street was scorched.

The lumber shed was burned about 1 p. m.

Police rerouted traffic around the scene.

Chester Fire Chief Alton Johnson complimented the men for "employing proper safety precautions."

Don Knotts Wins His Fifth

Lucille Ball Wins First Emmy Award In 12 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don Knotts won his fifth Emmy as a jittery deputy sheriff and a weeping Lucille Ball got her first Emmy in 12 years at the Television Academy's 19th annual awards.

In a season blasted by many critics as generally poor, the award for outstanding comedy series went Sunday night to "The Monkees," the weekly antics of four Beatle-like musicians. NBC claims their "mod clothes and long hairdos reflect the 'now' attitude of today's teen-age generation."

At televised ceremonies in Los Angeles and New York hotels, the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences chose also among winners for 1966-67:

Variety series: The Andy Williams Show.

Dramatic series: "Mission: Impossible."

Single dramatic program: "Death of a Salesman"

Musical program: "Brigadoon." This show won the most awards—five—collecting also for technical and lighting direction, electronic cameraman and variety direction.

Runner-up was "Mission: Impossible" with four statuettes.

Its feminine star, Barbara Bain, told a reporter: "I was totally surprised. I haven't had as liquid a pair of knees since the day I was married."

Her husband, Martin Landau, also of "Mission: Impossible," lost to Bill Cosby of "I Spy" in the race among actors in dramatic series.

Cosby, a Negro, repeated his win of last year. There was some surprise that the Emmy didn't go this time to his costar, Robert Culp, to even matters.

Don Knotts, collecting his Emmy as deputy Barney Fife on the Andy Griffith Show, said "I really don't know what to say except thank you very much."

Knotts won Emmies in 1961-63 as a regular on the series. Last year and this he won for guest appearances.

The show's Frances Bavier won supporting-role Emmy after seven years of playing fussy, good-hearted Aunt Bea.

Writer-actor-director Carl Reiner won his 10th and 11th Emmies as performer and writer on the Sid Caesar Special.

That show, aired April 5, reunited players and three writers of Caesar's "Show of Shows" of 10 years ago.

The reunion special and its five writers won Emmies.

CBS won the most Emmies—17. ABC, moving out of third for the first time, was next with 12. NBC, which usually see-saws in the lead with CBS, trailed with 10.

Refreshments were served by the PTA.

Miss Buben reminded parents who did not have all the neessary information and papers with them Friday that no assignments will be made for a pupil until the registration information is complete.

Grady Overton, 27, of Hardesty, Okla., won his first major stake race at the New Orleans Fair Grounds last winter. He rode Backbiter.

1,000 Attend Oak Glen Rite

About 1,000 attended baccalaureate services Sunday night at Oak Glen high school, according to E. Russell Slack, principal.

The speaker was the Rev. Allen Fields of the First Christian Church of New Cumberland. He delivered the sermon to a graduating class of 194.

The invocation was by the Rev. Willis Summers of the Newell Methodist Church and the benediction by the Rev. Frank Higginbotham of the Chester Church of Christ.

Senior Day will be held Tuesday afternoon at the school, with graduation exercises Wednesday night at 8.

Judge Comments On Wet Weekend In Police Lineup

"It certainly was a wet weekend — maybe somebody was giving away free whisky!" Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented today when confronted with eight intoxication cases — the largest in a police lineup in several months.

Patricia Ann Lamp of Dresden Ave., the only one of the defendants facing a multiple charge, was fined $10 and costs on intoxication and another $10 and costs on a charge of using indecent language and profanity. She was cited Sunday at 3:15 a. m. on Dresden Ave.

Five more of the defendants were fined the standard $10 and costs and two forfeited $32.50 appearance bonds.

Police records showed most of the defendants were arrested late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

West Virginia state police made 23 arrests over the weekend in a traffic crackdown.

Of those arrested, seven were charged with speeding, three with reckless driving and 13 with miscellaneous charges.

Among those arrested were Clark N. Gaston, 18, of Canton, who posted an $87 bond for an appearance Saturday before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland. Gaston was arrested on Route 66 at 3:30 a.m. Sunday and charged with driving at a speed of about 100 miles an hour, officers said.

Also fined was William R. Fowler, 33, of Elkview, W. Va., who paid $10 and costs on a charge of speeding.

Ambulance Firms Set Proposals In Writing

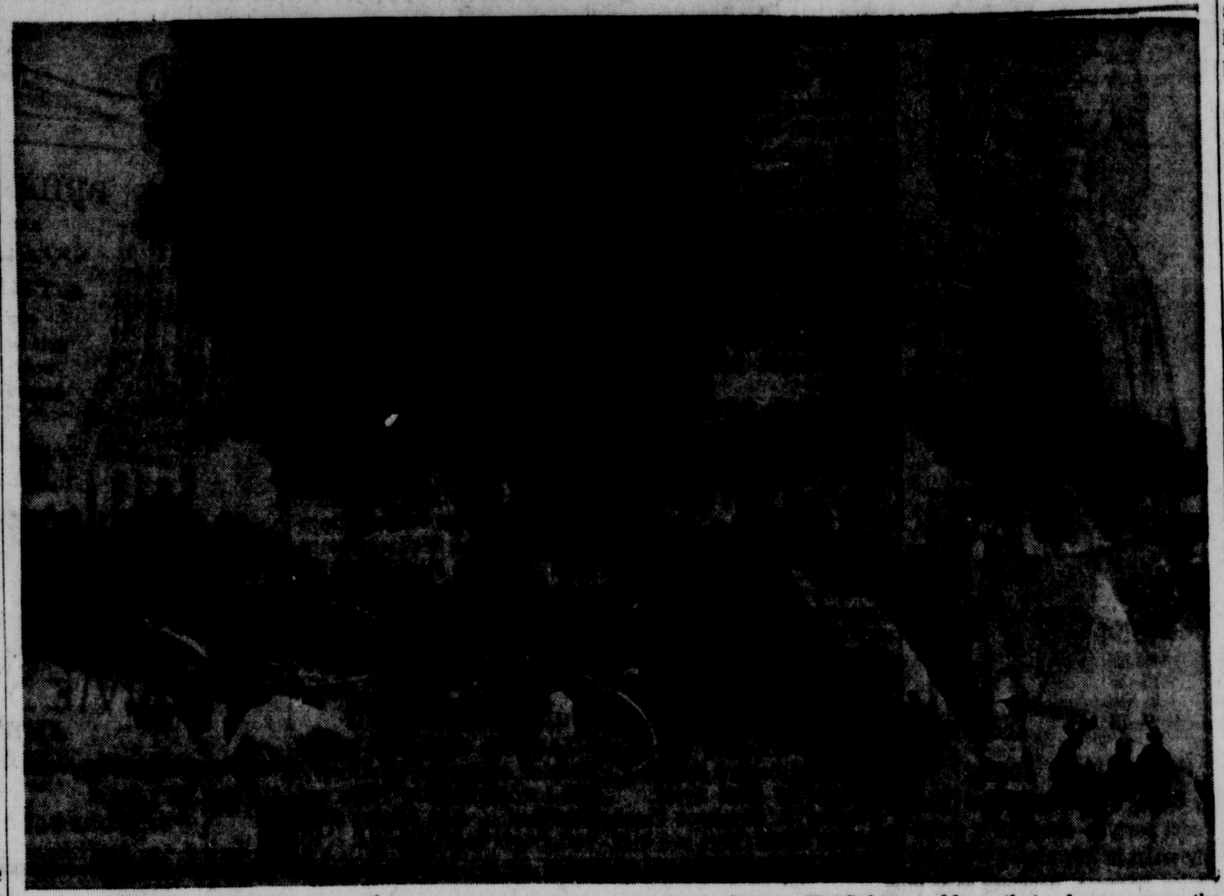
Four firms which have expressed interest in providing contract ambulance service for East Liverpool are scheduled to file detailed proposals in writing within the next few days, Mayor George Willshaw said today.

Filing of the plans will clear the way for further study by Council and the administration, which are seeking a substitute for the service which district funeral home will discontinue July 15.

The mayor and Council conferred with the four applicants Friday night and agreed to meet again to continue the discussion.

Four Departments Take Part

Shed Goes Up In Smoke At Drill



Some of the 60 firemen who participated in a fire school at Chester Sunday are shown controlling the blaze at the shed of the former Chester Lumber Co. on Route 66.

Four departments, Chester, Newell, Lawrenceville and Oakland, participated under the direction of East Liverpool Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne, who supervised the burning of the main brick building and the shed.

The school, sponsored by the Hancock County Firefighters Association, got under way at 9 a. m., with smoke classes, training in hose laying and pump instruction.

The main building was burned about 10. So hot was the blaze, that a house across the street was scorched.

The lumber shed was burned about 1 p. m.

Police rerouted traffic around the scene.

Chester Fire Chief Alton Johnson complimented the men for "employing proper safety precautions."

Don Knotts Wins His Fifth

Lucille Ball Wins First Emmy Award In 12 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don Knotts won his fifth Emmy as a jittery deputy sheriff and a weeping Lucille Ball got her first Emmy in 12 years at the Television Academy's 19th annual awards.

In a season blasted by many critics as generally poor, the award for outstanding comedy series went Sunday night to "The Monkees," the weekly antics of four Beatle-like musicians. NBC claims their "mod clothes and long hairdos reflect the 'now' attitude of today's teen-age generation."

At televised ceremonies in Los Angeles and New York hotels, the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences chose also among winners for 1966-67:

Variety series: The Andy Williams Show.

Dramatic series: "Mission: Impossible."

Single dramatic program: "Death of a Salesman"

Musical program: "Brigadoon." This show won the most awards—five—collecting also for technical and lighting direction, electronic cameraman and variety direction.

Runner-up was "Mission: Impossible" with four statuettes.

Its feminine star, Barbara Bain, told a reporter: "I was totally surprised. I haven't had as liquid a pair of knees since the day I was married."

Her husband, Martin Landau, also of "Mission: Impossible," lost to Bill Cosby of "I Spy" in the race among actors in dramatic series.

Cosby, a Negro, repeated his win of last year. There was some surprise that the Emmy didn't go this time to his costar, Robert Culp, to even matters.

Don Knotts, collecting his Emmy as deputy Barney Fife on the Andy Griffith Show, said "I really don't know what to say except thank you very much."

Knotts won Emmies in 1961-63 as a regular on the series. Last year and this he won for guest appearances.

The show's Frances Bavier won supporting-role Emmy after seven years of playing fussy, good-hearted Aunt Bea.

Writer-actor-director Carl Reiner won his 10th and 11th Emmies as performer and writer on the Sid Caesar Special.

That show, aired April 5, reunited players and three writers of Caesar's "Show of Shows" of 10 years ago.

The reunion special and its five writers won Emmies.

CBS won the most Emmies—17. ABC, moving out of third for the first time, was next with 12. NBC, which usually see-saws in the lead with CBS, trailed with 10.

50 Are Registered By School At Newell

Fifty children were registered Friday for the fall term at the Jefferson elementary School in Newell, Miss Betty Buben, principal, announced.

The youngsters, along with their parents, visited the first-grade rooms of Mrs. Helen Doan, Mrs. Vera Nease and Mrs. Freda Arnott.

Refreshments were served by the PTA.

Miss Buben reminded parents who did not have all the necessary information and papers with them Friday that no assignments will be made for a pupil until the registration information is complete.

Grady Overton, 27, of Hardesty, Okla., won his first major stake race at the New Orleans Fair Grounds last winter. He rode Backbiter.

1,000 Attend Oak Glen Rite

About 1,000 attended baccalaureate services Sunday night at Oak Glen high school, according to E. Russell Slack, principal.

The speaker was the Rev. Allen Fields of the First Christian Church of New Cumberland. He delivered the sermon to a graduating class of 194.

The invocation was by the Rev. Willis Sunmers of the Newell Methodist Church and the benediction by the Rev. Frank Higginbotham of the Chester Church of Christ.

Senior Day will be held Tuesday afternoon at the school, with graduation exercises Wednesday night at 8.

Judge Comments On Wet Weekend In Police Lineup

"It certainly was a wet weekend — maybe somebody was giving away free whisky!" Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff commented today when confronted with eight intoxication cases — the largest in a police lineup in several months.

Patricia Ann Lamp of Dresden Ave., the only one of the defendants facing a multiple charge, was fined $10 and costs on intoxication and another $10 and costs on a charge of using indecent language and profanity. She was cited Sunday at 3:15 a. m. on Dresden Ave.

Five more of the defendants were fined the standard $10 and costs and two forfeited $32.50 appearance bonds.

Police records showed most of the defendants were arrested late Saturday night or early Sunday morning.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: Please send immediate help. I need it desperately and so do my neighbors and friends who also own dogs that sometimes just can't wait . . . Since carpets are expensive, we would appreciate it if you would tell us what to do when this accident occurs.

I am sure there are thousands of others who would like to be in the know.

"SPORTS" MOTHER

-:-

DEAR SPORT'S MOTHER: I have just been in the laboratories of the National Institute of Rug Cleaning in Washington, D.C. They cope with this problem all the time, and here is their top chemist's answer:

"A dog may be man's best friend but not necessarily that of man's carpeting.

"Neglected animal stains have been a problem ever since the first 'accident.'

"Two types of reaction can take place between the chemicals in the urine and those in the fiber dye:

"Some dyes change color as soon as urine comes in contact with them. Often original color can be restored by immediate addition of a weak solution of ammonia or white vinegar.

"Always pick an inconspicuous area of the carpet and test small amounts of solution to determine its effect on the particular fiber and dye in your own carpet.

"The other change develops slowly over a period of several months and results in permanent change of fiber dye. Not only is there a dye change, but some fibers become weakened or destroyed. After cleaning, these areas are more obvious because the soil which hid the true color has been removed.

"The next time you housewives are confronted with an animal 'accident,' I suggest they IMMEDIATELY absorb as much liquid as possible. Then wash the area with a solution of one teaspoon of neutral detergent (which contains NO BLEACH) to one cup of lukewarm water. Absorb all you can with white tissues or toweling.

"Then use a white vinegar solution (one part white vinegar to two parts water) and rewipe the spot.

"Absorb as dry as possible.

"Place a half-inch layer of white absorbent material over area and weight down with heavy books.

"Allow to dry for at least six hours.

"If immediate action is taken to remove these stains in this manner, no change in color should occur and that forgotten 'accident' will not become apparent after your carpet has been professionally cleaned."

Bless the National Institute of Rug Cleaners for their compassion in understanding our problems. Aren't they great?

Pat your little dog for all of us (and me, too).

Love,
HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: When I wash out stockings and small articles in the sink, I always use one of our flexible plastic glasses as a plunger to help remove the soil.

Saves hands.

MRS. WILLIAM SCHEER.

DEAR FOLKS: Just fill up the basin with hot sudsy water, and put the garments in. Then squash up and down with that plastic glass.

I found the plastic glass did a great job when the OPEN end was turned DOWN. By using the plastic glass, you won't boil your hands.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Plastic rainhats (that fold into a small package to carry in your purse) are so convenient, but the ties tear off so easily. . . .

When a tie came off the other day, I cut off the other tie and inserted grosgrain ribbon in the grommets where the ties are joined to the hat. I just slipped ribbon through the holes, turned the ends under about a half-inch stitched them back to the ribbon.

Try it. You will have a rainhat that will do the job just as efficiently and comfortably.

And you also have a pretty, soft grosgrain bow under your chin!

MRS. JOHN NEVILLE.

Girl Planning An Appeal In Brown Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—The attorney for Miss Brenda Ayres, who lost a jury verdict in her paternity suit against former football star Jim Brown, says no decision has been made concerning an appeal.

We probably will decide about an appeal some time this week," Russell T. Adrine, the lawyer, said Sunday night.

Brown, former fullback for the Cleveland Browns, was absolved of the paternity of Shellee Monique Ayres, 15-month-old daughter of Miss Ayres, 20, in juvenile court Saturday afternoon.

The jury delliberated 11½ hours over two days in reaching a verdict following eight days of testimony.

Only nine jurors were required to concur on a verdict because the paternity suit was a civil case.

Brown, who was in London completing work on a movie, was tried in absentia. He declined comment on the case when he returned home Saturday night.

In July, 1965, a municipal court jury acquitted Brown of assault and battery following a complaint by Miss Ayres.

Pending in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court is a $100,000 civil damage suit against Brown filed by Brenda's mother, Mrs. Barbara Ayres. Mrs. Ayres alleges that Brown beat her daughter in a motel on June 20, 1965.
